WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION SETS HIGHER BAR FOR AIR QUALITY

W.H.O. on Wednesday issued its first air quality guidelines since 2005 aimed at reducing deaths from key pollutants

ADVISED LEVELS OF POLLUTANTS REVISED

In the revised guidelines, the United Nations health agency slashed the recommended maximum levels of several pollutants, including particulate matter and nitrogen dioxide. WHO halved the recommended limit for average annual PM2.5 level from 10 micrograms per cubic metre to 5. It also lowered the advised limit for PM10 from 20 micrograms to 15 | P18

AIR POLLUTION BIGGEST HEALTH RISK

- Exposure to air pollution is estimated to cause 7 mn premature deaths and affect the health of millions more people each year
- According to the WHO, air pollution is now comparable to other global health risks such as unhealthy diet and tobacco smoking
- Reducing exposure to particulate matter is the priority, WHO said

90%

OF WORLD POPULATION ALREADY LIVES IN AREAS WITH HARMFUL POLLUTANTS

PM weighs in on vax certification at summit

Modi says nations must recognise certificates for ease of travel; UK okay with Covishield, not India's certificate

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

A day after India threatened reciprocal measures on its discriminatory policy on vaccination, the UK on Wednesday included Covishield in its list of approved vaccines. However, Indian travellers will still have to undergo quarantine upon arrival as the British government is yet to recognise the vaccination certificate citing technical issues.

Later in the day, Prime Minister Narendra Modi alluded to the hassle and stressed the need for nations to mutually recognise vaccination certificates for ease of travel. "We need to focus on addressing the pandemic's economic effects. To end the adverse effects on the economy, international travel should be made easier by mutually recognising vaccine certificates," the prime minister said in his address at the virtual Global Covid Summit on the sidelines of the United Nations General Assembly.

According to the UK government's amended guidelines, "Formulations of the four listed vaccines, such as AstraZeneca Covishield, AstraZeneca Vaxzevria and Modern Takeda, qualify as approved vaccines." From 4 am on October 4, those who have taken vaccines from a relevant public health body and are from a specific list of countries, will be considered fully vaccinated. India does not figure on that list.

"We're clear Covishield is not a problem. The UK is open to travel and we're already seeing a lot of people going from India to the UK, be it tourists, business people or students," said Alex Ellis, British High Commissioner to India. "We have been having detailed technical discussions regarding certification, with the builders of the CoWIN app and the NHS app, about both apps" he added.

At the virtual summit, Modi said India has managed to administer 800 million vaccine doses so far and the production of vaccines is also being ramped up. "As our production increases, we will be able to resume vaccine supplies to others too. For this, the supply chains of raw materials must be kept open."

US President Joe Biden announced that his country will double its purchase of Pfizer's shots to share with the world up to 1 billion doses, with the goal of vaccinating 70% of the global population by next year.

SC pushes govt to let women write NDA exams this yr

KANU SARDA @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday rejected the Centre's request to defer the induction of women into the National Defence Academy (NDA) till next year, directing the defence ministry to do the needful so that female candidates can write the upcoming NDA entrance exams in November.

Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhati told the bench that the military establishment would need some time to induct women into NDA. She said a study group is looking into the infrastructure and course requirements for women cadets and that a system will be put in place by May 2022.

However, a bench led by Justice Sanjay Kishan Kaul said the admission of women cannot be postponed as it will mean losing a year. "What answer would we have for the students who are on the anvil of taking the exam? Don't ask us to effectively vacate the order. You go on with the exercise. Let us see the result and see how many women get in," it said.

Mysterious fever among kids, but don't panic, say doctors

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

DOCTORS in Karnataka are seeing an increasing number of viral fever cases in children showing symptoms of Covid and Dengue but testing negative, raising doubts whether this is a result of mutations in the viruses. Though this new virus or viruses have been showing prolonged illness than the usual seasonal viruses, doctors stressed that there is no reason to panic, and children should not be subjected to unnecessary tests unless the symptoms are unusual.

Doctors are seeing children, especially in the age group of zero to five years, presenting symptoms of high-grade fever, fatigue, cough, cold and vomiting, but are testing negative even for some seasonal infections, like respiratory syncytial virus, H1N1 or chikungunya.

Dr Niranjan Patil, Associate Vice-President, Scientific Business Head -- Infectious diseases, Metropolis Healthcare Ltd, said if a typical symptom like fever is persisting for more than three days or the timing is differing, or children from a particular area are showing similar symptoms, then there has to be a syndromic approach (depending on particular symptoms presented in the specific condition of illness). 5 held for fining Dalit family after child enters temple

SHREEPADA AYACHIT @Koppal

FIVE persons were arrested at Miyapur village in Kushtagi taluk of Koppal district on Wednesday for imposing a fine on a Dalit family after their three-year-old boy ran into Maruteshwara temple in the village.

The family had visited the temple on September 4 as it was the boy's birthday. Even as the family was praying outside, the child ran into the temple. Seeing it as a desecration, the temple priest and other upper caste members held a meeting on September 11 and slapped a fine of Rs 25,000 on the family for conducting homas and taking up cleansing rituals at the temple.

The Dalit family is from Channdasar community, while the five arrested are from the upper Ganiga caste, which is a sub-sect of the Lingayat community. As the Dalit family could not pay the fine, they approached the police and also their community leaders. CONTINUED ON: P7

TBM completes drilling between the upcoming Cantonment and Shivajinagar Metro stations, which lasted 419 days

Jubilation at the end of 855-metre tunnel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AFTER drilling underground for 419 days between the upcoming Cantonment and Shivajinagar Metro stations, the first Tunnel Boring Machine (TBM) of Phase-II, 'Urja', finally completed the stretch of 855 metre on Wednesday. In the process of drilling over 60 feet below the ground to create a tunnel for the 21.26 km Nagawara-Kalena Agrahara (Gottigere) Line, the Chinese-made machine encountered numerous challenges including the second Covid-19 and seeping of slurry into the buildings forcing a temporary halt in tunnelling. The work executed below a congested area like Shivajinagar which is packed with countless old buildings forced the TBM to operate with enormous caution.

The machine started work on July 30, 2020, in presence of former Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa.

The breakthrough was achieved at 10.15 am at Shivaji nagar station in presence of Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and other dignitaries.

For the 168 workers who worked 24x7 for 13 months and 23 days with the need to maintain social distancing during the second Covid-19 wave, it was sheer relief. "It is a great day for all of us. We all feel very satisfied, "said Vivek Kumar Pande, who has experience of carrying out similar work for Mumbai Metro.

"We used to be underground throughout our shift with food and water being sent to us below. Sufficient ventilation ducts brought in fresh air from above and we did not feel any breathing issues," he added. Safety Manager Rohit said, "Tunnelling is relatively tougher than the elevated portion.

Covid-19 made things a little complicated prompting us to take precautions. Good to see the breakthrough."

Mazar Ahmed, Assistant Executive Engineer, BMRCL said, "It will take 60 days for this machine to fully dismantle. It will be transported to Cantonment where it will be reassembled. Drilling work towards Pottery Town will begin next."

Eight other TBMs are presently working to put in place the tunnels for the underground corridor with 12 stations running for 13.76 km from the South Ramp near Jayanagar Fire station to North Ramp at Nagawara.

The remaining 7.5 km of the line will be elevated.

All hurdles cleared for airport line

ENS @ Bengaluru

BMRCL Managing Director Anjum Parwez on Wednesday said the High Court had on Tuesday (September 21) given the agency permission to transplant trees for Metro Phase-II work. Speaking during an event to mark the breakthrough of Tunnel Boring Machine Urja, he said that Jakkur Flying School had given it a fresh No Objection Certificate (NOC) to go ahead with construction work for the KR Puram-Kempegowda International Airport Line, which would be in place by December 2024.

General Manager of BMRCL's Social and Environmental Management Unit, Divya Shivram told TNIE, "We are unable to complete Metro stations at UM Kaaval, Jyotipura and Kothanur depot as we are awaiting permission to translocate around 900 trees. BMRCL will be planting 9,000 trees at Jayaprakash Narayan National Youth Centre, and other BDA and KIADB lands. We aim to start planting before removing or felling trees."

CM Basavaraj Bommai reiterated that he had advanced the completion of Metro Phase-II to 2024. "I am closely monitoring the work and want the project to be completed by the deadline," he said. He had advanced the deadline during the launch of the Mysuru Road-Kengeri Line on August 29 this year. Jakkur-based Government Flying Training School gave a fresh NOC a fortnight ago, said Hega Reddy, Executive Director, Civil-1, BMRCL.

Concrete block keeps buildings safe as Urja tunnels through

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

AS Tunnel Boring Machine 'Urja' completed its complicated drilling task from Cantonment to Shivajinagar on Wednesday, it thrust its head out right into a special concrete box. The box was set up to ensure the safety of buildings in Shivajinagar.

The move to ensconce the machine in the box paid off, and Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) now plans to create such boxes for the eight other TBMs, when they near their destination. This is only the second time that such a box was created; the previous occasion was for Metro Phase-I line, when a machine drilled from South ramp to KR Market to create the underground corridor of the North-South Line.

The massive TBM from China has a diameter of 6.7 metres. A top BMRCL official told TNIE, "We created a special concrete block (false block) of length 15 metres, breadth 9 metres and height 9 metres. "It was intended to support Urja break through safely, by avoiding loss of soil inside. When the TBM breaks through, it carries soil with it," he explained.

The rings being made in a circular fashion make the particles fall to the ground. "They could, in future, create a cavity and this could result in sinking of the buildings above. To avoid such a situation in future, we created this block," he said.

There were many spots along the route the machine was tunnelling from Cantonment to Shivajinagar, where buildings are just five metres above the drilling level, the official added.

These precautionary measures were taken after lessons learned from Metro Phase-I when sinkholes at a few places delayed the underground corridor by over a year.

Encroachments cleared from 1.1K lakes: Ashoka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Benglauru

PARTS of over 1,500 lakes in Bengaluru Urban and Rural districts and BBMP limits were encroached and the authorities have managed to clear unauthorised structures in over 1,100 lakes.

Revenue Minister R Ashoka on Wednesday informed the Council that they will continue the drive to clear encroachments in all lakes. "In Bengaluru Urban, 236 acres in 114 lakes were recovered in the last two months. We have taken up the work on boundary trench, fencing and planting saplings along the lake boundary," he said.

He said in the BBMP limits, they had done a survey of 160 lakes and found that parts of 148 lakes were encroached. Encroachments are cleared in 12 lakes and the drive will continue, he added.

Responding to N Appaji Gowda's question, Ashoka said though there is no provision to give khata, local bodies have given the documents to people who built structures on such lands and are even collecting taxes. In such cases, notices are being issued and after inquiry, action will be taken to clear encroachments, he said.

Ashoka said, 25 years back, Bengaluru Urban was home to 837 lakes and that has now come down to 705. The number of lakes in Bengaluru Rural district, BBMP and Bengaluru Development Authority (BDA) limits are 710, 204 and five, respectively. The court has directed to clear unauthorized constructions within 30 m from the lake boundary," he said.

V for Vegan! FSSAI okays city girl's logo

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

FOOD Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) has chosen the vegan foods' logo designed by a Bengaluru-based college girl.

The logo, a simple 'V' with a small plant on top of it has been recognised, approved and will be the face of all vegan foods.

It took only 20 minutes for Kruti Manish Rathore (22), an MSc, second year, Home Science and Nutrition student of Mount Carmel College, to come up with the idea.

FSSAI released the logo for all vegan foods on September 21 and stated: "The new logo is green in colour, as a V inscribed in the middle with a small plant on top of it." Kruthi explained that the green coloured plant and leaves indicate that the product is of plant origin, while 'V' is to identify that the product is vegan and the word 'Vegan' written at the end helps consumers to identify vegan foods and avoid confusion with the letter 'Y'.

"This is the first time I have done this. I had a discussion with my father after making and sharing some preliminary drawings. He gave me some suggestions to improvise and I was satisfied with what I made. I first understood what vegan foods mean and why people consume or shift to them before designing the logo. I am very happy that my design has been selected. I thank my teachers and principal for all the encouragement," she told TNIE. Dr Sangeeta Pandey, Associate Professor and Head of the Department, Nutrition said Dietetics, Mount Carmel College, said,"I was aware that FSSAI was looking for a logo for vegan foods. So I asked the girls to take it up as a project and come up with something new and innovative. Kruthi's logo was selected. It is a proud moment," she said.

PETER VIDAL

23rd September: Let's take a look at today's numerology. It's the 23rd, and two plus three one plus four equals, simply, five! Specialists in this ancient art would say that it's a point at which all enterprises and initiatives, which have reached a suitable stage, are ready for a creative burst. Some people might even end up back where they started, though!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Financial news could be better than you'd hoped for, and you may feel sufficiently enthused to team up with partners in a new venture. Push along with changes and make a few much-needed improvements in your relationships. Above all, you'll be focusing on a new social goal.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Surprise news or events could add interest to social engagements, and if you're involved in light-hearted activities, you'll be given a welcome break from arduous responsibilities. When you're dealing with money you may feel as if you should be saving, but in the meantime, it seems to be easier to spend!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Home and family affairs are highlighted, and plans for a move could soon be under way. If you are able to side-step opposition from associates, this should be a day of co-operation. Also, try to be less secretive than usual and share ideas with friends.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Mundane and routine affairs have taken up much of your time, but there's plenty of scope for developing the more imaginative side of life. There's still no sign that partners are any more reliable than in the past. Still, you chose them! And that, perhaps, is the lesson you have to learn!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Unexpected encounters could prove to be highly fortunate, and may give you some thing to think about financially. You'll have the right touch, and this could be a promising day for dealing with official dom. You'll be able to make a bid for romantic happiness soon, but not until you've stopped relying on others for emotional security.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You will still be kept on the go, with little time to put your feet up. Don't, though, expect everything to turn out as you would like. Short trips could take you to some unusual places. You will very soon be able to grapple with a romantic ambition and, if you're lucky, your feelings will be reciprocated - but give yourself an opt-out clause just in case.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Background activity is important, and cash and career prospects could benefit from your typically discreet actions. Friendly contacts will help you along, but your own mood could turn serious as time progresses. And when that happens, your attitudes to close partners will also change.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Your prospects are bright, but you'll be occupied keeping abreast of chores, especially if partners don't see eye-to-eye. Make sure you don't waste your valuable time running around after people who don't share your aspirations. The last thing you want to do now is waste more precious energy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Chase up any cash owing to you, and give time to long-term investments and securities. Your ideas on business will be good, but you could do with expert advice if you are to stay in the black. After all, you can't always be expected to take all the responsibility - and the blame.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
If a business matter has been left in the air recently you should now be able to tie up a few loose ends. A new social contact should be cultivated, as you are not yet sure from which source future assistance will be arriving. It could actually be an old friend who comes back into your life and fits the bill.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
If progress seems slow at work, try new tactics and go for the friendly approach. Before long, there'll be opportunities to branch out in new emotional directions, so put down your foundations now. Part of the problem is that you are expecting too much to happen too soon.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Life is fairly hectic, and new invitations or proposals may present you with awkward choices. If so, now is the ideal time to sort out your priorities, deciding what is really important and setting aside much more time for relaxation. On the other hand, as soon as you have had a short rest, you'll be off again!

Leopard menace unites all members of House

The Assembly on Wednesday witnessed a discussion by members cutting across party lines of sighting of leopards in human habitats. Raising the issue, Hubballi-Dharwad East MLA Prasad Abbayya said a leopard has been giving sleepless nights to residents in and around Nrupatunga Betta in Dharwad district for over a week. "Forest staffers are unable to catch it. Is this because there is shortage of experts or staffers?" he rued. Hubballi-Dharwad Central MLA Jagadish Shettar expressed displeasure over forest staffers not able to capture the big cat. Honnali MLA MP Renukacharya said there are three leopards prowling in his constituency. Replying on behalf of the government, Water Resources Minister Govind Karjol assured the House that appropriate measures will be taken to tackle the problem.

Will try to revive My Sugar: Minister

Sugar Minister Shankar B Patil Munenkoppa has assured that the government will explore all possibilities to revive the Mandya Sugar Factory and not to lease it out to private companies. He was replying to Malavalli MLA K Annadani, who had raised the issue in the Assembly. Munenkoppa said that the government and cooperative-run industries were under losses and he had spoken to Union Minister for Agriculture and Farmers Welfare Narendra Singh Tomar twice in this regard. "We are aware of the problems faced by sugarcane growers and I will hold talks with the CM soon," he said.

Assembly nod for KMC Bill

The Karnataka Municipalities and Certain Other Law (Second Amendment) Bill-2021, which empowers urban local bodies to levy a fee on hoardings as advertisement tax has been subsumed under the GST, was passed in the Assembly.The Karnataka Khadi & Village Industries (Amendment) Bill-2021 aimed at reducing financial burden by bringing down the number of non-official members of the board of directors to 12 members, was also passed. The Assembly also gave its nod to The Karnataka State Civil Services (Regulation of Transfer of Teachers) (Amendment) Bill- 2021, which provides an opportunity for teachers who were compulsorily transferred in 2019-2020 to opt for a place within the taluk or district where they were working earlier.

Om Birla to address joint session tomorrow

The secretariat was busy making preparations for Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla's address to both Houses of the legislature on Friday, which is also the concluding day of the 10-day monsoon session. Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri on Wednesday told The New Indian Express that Birla will arrive in Bengaluru on Friday morning and address the legislators later in the day. Birla will hold a press conference on Saturday, he added. Kageri had told the legislators on September 17 that they should stay on till Birla's address ends at 2.30 pm on September 24 and not to leave Vidhana Soudha soon after the session concludes at 12.30 pm.

Cops 'miserably failed' in handling Mysuru gangrape case, says Siddu

Slams Home Minister for taking matter 'casually', attacks state govt over inaction

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

While the Opposition slammed Mysuru police over the gangrape that shook the state in August, the government defended the police, saying they had convinced the survivor to record her statement before a magistrate.

The issue was taken up for discussion as a matter of public importance in the Assembly on Wednesday. Woman MLAs expressed concern over safety, by referring to some recent cases.

KGF MLA Roopakala S said there was fear in society, especially among parents who have daughters. She condemned the circular issued by University of Mysore vice-chancellor advising women students not to go out after 6 pm. "We have to educate boys in their adolescence about respecting women," she said.

Leader of the Opposition Siddaramaiah charged at Mysuru Police, saying they had failed miserably in handling the case.

"They ignored the Verma Commission report in the case. There is a delay of more than 14 hours in registration of the FIR, despite an MLC notice being sent by the hospital in the night itself. The police also showed a lackadaisical attitude initially and tried to scare the boy's father, who reported the matter to the police first. The police had no idea whether the incident took place in their jurisdiction or a place belonging to the forest department".

He also accused Home Minister Araga Jnanendra of taking the whole incident "very casually".

Jnanendra said police had handled the case professionally and arrested the accused within 80 hours. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said the police had convinced the survivor, who was not at all willing, to record her statement before the magistrate. Jnanendra said a fast-track court will be set up for a speedy trial, while Bommai added that a special prosecutor will be appointed to ensure the accused gets capital punishment.

Jayanagar MLA Sowmya Reddy said there should be no politics when it comes to crimes against women. She said cases of domestic violence were also on the rise after the Covid-19 lockdown.

MLA Vinisha Nero said no crimes against women, including eve-teasing, should be viewed lightly and alleged police failed women with their arrogance and high-handedness. She said the usage of the word 'rape' in different contexts will trivialise the crime.

Govt plans to sell land given on long-term lease

ENS @ Bengaluru

AS the State government is not getting any revenue from lands given on long-term lease, it is now contemplating selling such lands at the guidance value.

Revenue Minister R Ashoka on Tuesday informed the Legislative Council that government land was given on long term leases for 99 years. "Even after the lease period was over, lands were not returned, but the lease was extended again. Since the government is not getting any revenue and were are thinking of selling such lands to them at the guidance value. However, if they are using the lands for purposes other than what it was given for, they have to pay double the guidance value," the minister, responding to a question by BJP MLC Bharati Shetty.

The minister said lands were allotted to many institutions on long-term leases of 99 years before Independence,. and in some cases, it was continued for another 50 years. The government will not get back such lands and the lease amount is very less, compared to the value of such lands.

The minister said the government will charge 2.5 times the market value for properties that will be given on lease now. In some cases, the government has taken back land after the lease period ended, he added.

Women should not work late hours, says BJP MLC

ENS @ Bengaluru

BJP MLC Bharati Shetty on Wednesday stoked a controversy when she said that working women should not be allowed to work overtime late in the evening for their safety, as they could become targets of crimes.

Taking part in a debate on the Mysuru gang rape incident in the Council, Bharati Shetty observed that the victim was left to bear the brunt, more than her male friend. "The judiciary also lacks teeth to deal with the culprits strictly. Hence, a stringent new law, which allows for castration of criminals, is required," she suggested.

She also defended Home Minister Araga Jnanendra who, in the immediate aftermath of the incident, had remarked that the girl should not have gone to a desolate place late in the evening.

Reacting to Shetty's suggestion, state vice president of the Janavadi Mahila Sangha, K S Vimala, said, "Whether it is overtime work or staying outdoors, restricting women is against their freedom. What will she or other women legislators do when they sit on dharna until midnight?"

Opposition leader S R Patil said Shetty's remarks are not in the spirit of Mahatma Gandhi's dream of a 'Ram rajya' where women's safety is ensured at all times. Congress chief whip M Narayanaswamy termed the suggestion as impractical.

Co-op societies can borrow from DCC, other banks

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE government on Wednesday passed the Karnataka Souharda Sahakari (Amendment) Bill 2021, which will change the nomenclature of the hitherto 'Souharda Co-operative' to 'Co-operative Society' that helps societies borrow loans even from District Central Cooperative (DCC) Banks and commercial banks.

As per the new Act, salaried employees of co-operative unions and federations are not supposed to hold shares in the societies, or contest elections. In any co-operative, no member shall hold a share exceeding 5%.

Both the ruling and opposition party members termed the bill "simplistic and reformatory" that will not only strengthen the co-operative sector but also help them be sustainable and pro-people. Now, members of societies attending any two annual general body meetings are entitled to safeguard their rights to contest the polls, and also exercise their franchise. Earlier, attending three consecutive meetings was mandatory, and those who violated this rule would move court and ultimately get their rights back.

CAG report highlights fraud in BU stipend payouts

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Comptroller and Auditor General's (CAG) report on Bangalore University has revealed some glaring anomalies in disbursing stipends to research scholars.

The monthly stipend released for research scholars was three to four times more than the actual. In some cases, BU finance officers released stipends to scholars for more than the stipulated period, even though scholars claimed to have received only the actual amount. In these cases, the finance department officials have collected excess amounts from the scholars in cash citing "erroneous transfers".

The CAG report has recommended action against all officials and verifying the stipend amount received by the scholars.

The report, tabled in the Assembly on Wednesday, stressed that there were many irregularities since 2016 in Bangalore University. Mentioning one such case, where a scholar was supposed to get Rs 8,000, the report notes that the finance officer prefixed the number four, both in words and numerals, to make it Rs 48,000. "The modifications were carried out by the official after obtaining the approval of the Assistant Finance Officer for the original claims," the report states.

An individual who lodged a complaint with the police said the excess amount transferred was collected in cash by the official from the students stating that it was credited to their account by mistake instead of some other students' accounts. The official was suspended, but it was revoked in 2018, which was irregular.

Though the inquiry officer submitted a report confirming the allegations, the University had not taken any action against the finance officer, who adopted this modus operandi in nine such cases, the report noted.

It also said BU had not effectively verified the full working period of the senior assistant in the finance section from 2005 to 2017 even though it was ordered for detailed inquiry for the whole period.

It also recommended that action may be taken against all those concerned to prevent recurrence of such instances. Additional checks such as attestation of modifications to claims by the claimants, obtaining acknowledgements from the students for having received the claimed amount, comparing the amount both in words and figures before passing the bill and cheques should be put in place, the CAG report suggested.

Cong flays Chanakya varsity Bill, says land given at low price to 'RSS agency'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

LEADER of Opposition Siddaramaiah on Wednesday urged the State Government to withdraw its decision to grant land at a price lower than the market rate to the Centre for Education and Social Studies (CESS) to set up Chanakya University at Haraluru, on the outskirts of Bengaluru.

The Assembly on Tuesday passed the Chanakya University Bill by a voice vote amid, while Congress members walked out.

Siddaramaiah, talking to the media, alleged all members of CESS are from RSS. "It is an organisation that promotes the idea of Manu. It wants to reestablish Varnasharama in our society," he charged.

He said the Bill was passed in haste in the Assembly without giving the opposition an opportunity to debate it in detail. "CESS has no prior experience of managing educational institutions and also does not have any infrastructure to start a university," he added.

He asked the State Government to clarify the criteria adopted to allocate land to Centre for Education and Social Studies .

"The BJP government had called for a cabinet meeting in April and approved handing over of 116 acres to CESS. The notified land had been acquired by the Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB) to set up aerospace and defence industries. It had acquired the land at Rs 1.5 crore per acre and gave a compensation of Rs 175 crore to acquire 116 acres. The same land is now being given to CESS at just Rs 50 crore. The current market value is Rs300-400 crore," he added.

He said the government has passed a Bill to favour the RSS mouthpiece. "This is a highly criminal and corrupt attempt by the BJP government. At a time when the second wave of Covid-19 was at its peak and the government was starved of funds, the government convened a Cabinet meeting and gifted land to Centre for Education and Social Studies ," he thundered.

Siddaramaiah even accused Speaker Vishweshwar Hedge Kageri of being "partial" while passing the Bill.

Pvt university Bill passed in Council

Even as the Assembly adopted the Chanakya University Bill, 2021, the opposition in the Council have objected to its passage without a detailed debate. Congress chief whip M Narayanaswamy launched a scathing attack alleging a scandal in land being allotted to the private university through KIADB at throwaway prices. Law and Parliamentary Affairs minister J C Madhuswamy retaliated saying it was a precedent set by the Congress-led government. As Narayanaswamy continued his tirade, Madhuswamy sought that he be removed from the House as he was deviating from the debate. The Bill was passed after the Congress staged a walkout. Later, the chairman adjourned the Council for the day. ENS

SIZE MATTERS

Siddaramaiah's paunch and 'panche' problem

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

OPPOSITION leader Siddaramaiah was so engrossed in a debate on the functioning of the police force in the Assembly on Wednesday, that little did he realise his 'panche' (mundu) had come off! The former CM, however, took it sportingly and blamed weight gain for it.

Even as Siddaramaiah was speaking, state Congress president D K Shivakumar, who noticed the wardrobe malfunction, went up to him and whispered in his ears about his 'panche' having fallen down. To everyone's surprise, Siddaramaiah, reacted saying, "Oh, is that so?". Then, he himself announced that he would continue his speech after tying up his panche, evoking mirth and laughter all around.

This prompted Madhu Bangarappa, who was in the Chair, to remark, "It's tricky if you yourself disclose what the issue is."

Then again, Siddaramaiah, addressing the RDPR Minister, said, "My panche has come off, Eshwarappa. Of late, my paunch has increased and my 'panche' keeps coming off," even as the bemused minister looked on. When a member from the treasury benches offered help, he responded saying, "Since you are sitting on the other side, I will not ask you for help..."

Congress MLA and former Speaker Ramesh Kumar intervened to say, "Our president (referring to KPCC president Shivakumar) wanted to save the image of the party and Siddaramaiah's and whispered. But Siddaramaiah announced it to the entire House. People from BJP will be waiting to dent our image and this happened,'' he said on a lighter note. Replying to him, Siddaramaiah said, "They (BJP) cannot do anything to our image".

Covid+ve cases dip, and so does testing

Low testing could lead to spreading of infection in Karnataka, warn health officials; focus on RT-PCR tests

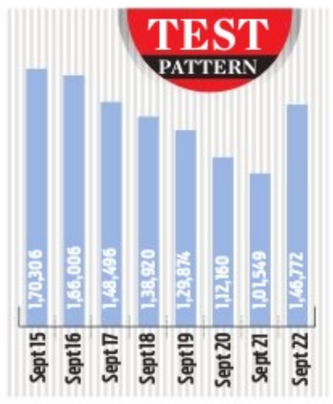
IFFATH FATHIMA @Bengaluru:

THOUGH the number of cases has been coming down in Karnataka, it is essential to maintain a high level of testing in order to track the infection at an early stage. However, in the past week, Karnataka has seen a major drop in the number of Covid-19 tests.

On September 15, the number of tests done was high, at 1,70,306, after which testing began to dip. On September 16, the number of Covid tests done were 1,66,006, followed by 1,48,496 on September 17, 1,38,920 on September 19, 1,29,784 on September 20 and 1,01,549 on September 21. There was a spike on Wednesday, with 1,46,772 tests. Recently, the government changed its testing strategy and stated that the daily test target should be 1.75 lakh for the state. However, the number of tests stands low.

Prior to September 15 too, testing had fallen -- on September 11, 1,19,503 tests were performed, followed by 1,00,176 on September 12, 1,19,014 tests on September 13 and 1,06,645 tests on September 14.

A public health official pointed out that it was important not to bring down the number of tests, as asymptomatic carriers and symptomatic ones could be missed, leading to spread in infection. "Both qualitative and quantitative testing is a must," the official said.



Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar pointed out that the state has reduced the number of Rapid Antigen Tests (RAT) and the focus is to conduct more RT-PCR tests. "So far, we have conducted 4.64 crore tests across the state, of which 3.77 crore are RT-PCR. This is one of the highest in the entire country. Due to heavy rain in several parts of the state, the number of Rapid Antigen Tests has come down in the past week, while RT-PCR have remained intact. Also, we are now focusing on targeted RT-PCR testing in districts bordering Kerala, to screen primary and secondary contacts and symptomatic children."

Nation Health Mission Director Dr Arundathi Chandrashekar said, "As the number of people testing positive has come down, contact tracing also has decreased, so the number of tests has reduced. For one Covid positive patient, 10-15 contacts would be tested. This apart, random tests are being conducted at the borders for only symptomatic patients, which is being carried out efficiently."

Meanwhile, in BBMP limits, the target is around 1 lakh tests per day, however, BBMP has been conducting 50,000-60,000 tests. A reduction was seen in the city on September 17, with only 37,179 tests done, followed by 49,954 tests on September 18 and 41,695 tests on September 19, while September 20 saw a high of 56,108 tests.

OLD VIRUS IN NEW BOTTLE, SAYS DOCTOR

"IN case of any unusual symptoms, molecular tests, swab collections, virus cultures etc will have to be done to see if there are any changes even in known viruses," Dr Niranjan Patil said. "We have seen at least 50-60 children with viral fevers and influenza symptoms, but we could diagnose only around 40% of cases with different seasonal illnesses. The rest we treated only symptomatically as there is no classification so far on such infections," said Dr Chikkanarasa Reddy, head of paediatrics, Bowring & Lady Curzon Medical College & Hospital.

Terming it as only "seasonal", Dr Rohini Kelkar, Senior Consultant, Clinical Microbiologist and Specialist, Metropolis Healthcare, said, "It is an old virus in a new bottle. With the background of Covid, many people tend to panic. Syndromic testing and identification of the virus matters."

Dr Ranjan Kumar Pejaver, paediatrician and president, Neonatal Forum, said, "Parents need not panic. They should look for unusual presentations in the child like croup (infection of the upper airway that obstructs breathing to cause a barking cough), breathlessness, turning blue, not eating due to high fever, fever not subsiding even after two days, rashes etc. Self-medication is dangerous. A doctor should be consulted."

Doctors said there has been an increase in cases of children with hacking or barking cough and persistent fever.

VACCINATION DROPS BY 90% AFTER PM BIRTHDAY MELA

RANJANI MADHAVAN @ Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the Covid-19 Lasike Mela (vaccination drive) held last Friday on PM Narendra Modi's birthday, vaccination numbers have dropped in subsequent days.

In all, 31.43 lakh (31,43,598) doses were administered in Karnataka during the mela, following which there has been over a 90% drop in daily vaccinations. The very next day, only 1.82 lakh (1,82,309) doses were administered. The lowest was observed on Sunday, with 58,509 doses administered. On Monday, there was an increase, although nowhere close to the Lasike Mela's achievement of 2,55,503 doses. On Tuesday, 2,62,709 doses were administered.

Dr Arundhathi Chandrashekar, managing director, National Health Mission, said, "The stock sent to districts for the Lasike Mela got exhausted the same day. The following two days were break days, with the vaccine drive picking up once again on Monday. Our target is to administer 5 lakh doses daily."

She added that it takes one to one-and-a-half days for stock to reach the districts. A meeting was held on Monday with district officials, where they were instructed by the Health and Family Welfare department to strategise vaccine administration. She said that in one or two days, the drive will be back on track, with the department preparing for the next mela on Wednesday. For this, they have received stocks of more than 20 lakh doses.

Meanwhile, Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar was unreachable for comment.

Sanjaynagar police have arrested a 38-year-old daily-wage labourer for lifting expensive bicycles, and recovered 45 bicycles worth Rs 10 lakh. A senior police officer said the accused, from Kalasipalya, and his friend, from Doddaballapura, used to lift the bicycles at night. Police are on the lookout for his associate

CABBIE ARRESTED FOR 'RAPING' PASSENGER

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A 25-year-old cab driver was arrested by the Jeevanbima Nagar police on Wednesday on charges of rape following a complaint from a woman passenger. The woman, from Jharkhand, works as a manager at a hotel in the city. She was taken to Bowring Hospital for medical tests soon after the FIR was registered, the police said.

A senior police officer said in the complaint, the woman stated that she booked the cab at 3.30 am from her friend's place at HSR Layout to her house at Murugeshpalya. "On the way, she fell asleep. When she woke up, she found the cabbie lying on top of her and the cab was at an isolated place. She pushed him and managed to escape. She then reached her house and approached the police," the officer said. The cab driver was arrested from his house in Avalahalli. During interrogation, he told the police that he had not touched the woman, but she had a fight with him over payment.

LPG BLAST MAY NOT HAVE TRIGGERED FIRE AT APARTMENT

Four teams inspect spot on Wednesday; Diyas, UPS, refrigerator may have triggered blaze

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A day after that the fire tragedy at an apartment in Devarachikkanahalli that claimed the lives of an octogenarian woman and her 59-year-old daughter, experts conducted a spot mahazar and collected samples to ascertain the possible cause behind the massive fire that gutted three homes on Tuesday.

A senior police officer from Begur police station said, "Four teams, including FSL (Forensic Science Laboratory), the gas agency, Bescom, and disaster management, inspected the spot to collect samples. It will take time to reveal what caused the fire."

The fire that occurred at Flat No. 210 on the second floor of Ashrith Aspire apartment claimed the lives of 82-year-old Lakshmi Devi and her daughter Bhagya Rekha, 59. Rekha was reportedly in the kitchen when an explosion led to the fire, while Lakshmi was on the balcony speaking on her mobile phone. But it is still not clear where and how the fire started, though suspicion is on a leak from the LPG cylinder in the kitchen.

Rekha's husband Bheem Sen (64) is in hospital with severe burns suffered while trying to save his wife but in vain. Only later did he realise that his mother-in-law was stuck in the balcony with grills with no escape, and was charred to death in full view of the horrified public.

Spot investigation by the teams revealed that the family had lit four diyas in the pooja room in the hall and thermocol was used for interior design.

Rekha and Bheem Sen's son-in-law Sandeep N, a techie, has filed a case before the police, saying that he was speaking to Lakshmi when the fire broke out and she was crying for help. He has also pointed out that the refrigerator and an UPS in the hall could have caused the fire.

Sandeep, married to Rekha's elder daughter, stays close by and had rushed to the house after learning about the fire. He along with the neighbors desperately tried to break the main door open to rescue the two women, though Bheem Sen, who was unable to enter the kitchen, had rushed downstairs to seek the help of security men despite severe burns. "We are probing the case from all angles. It is too early to say anything about the incident," said an investigator.

Apart from the two dead and one injured, five others visited a private hospital for first-aid. More than 200 residents of the apartment were shifted soon after the accident.

The family hails from Ballari. Bheem Sen is a retired employee of the Reserve Bank of India.

The postmortem was conducted on Wednesday evening, and the bodies were handed over to the family.

BBMP ISSUES CIRCULAR

BALCONIES CAN'T BE CLOSED OR MODIFIED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A day after a mother and daughter died in a suspected LPG cylinder explosion in an apartment complex in Devarachikkanahalli, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta on Tuesday issued a circular to all residential complexes to adhere to safety measures and not make alterations without seeking permission.

In the circular, the BBMP reminded apartment complex residents and owners to adhere to the Building Byelaws 2003 and National Building Code of India 2016 guidelines. Gupta asserted that after obtaining Commencement Certificate (CC) and Occupancy Certificate (OC), covering the balcony, modifying them or having additional structures is against the guidelines. It makes the space unsafe and is illegal. He said that despite the guidelines, it has been observed that there are many such violations across the city.

"With respect to the above mentioned points..... these kinds of unsafe practices leading to danger in the construction of houses will not be permitted. If there is a need for modification at residential complexes or other buildings, pre-approval must be obtained from BBMP competent authorities," the circular said.

Many apartment dwellers, however, are not happy with the circular and state that the grills installed by the builder in the balcony serve little or no purpose.

With the issue of the circular, the Town Planning section of the BBMP has also started the exercise of surveying all properties to mark out violations.

Headmaster suspended for getting massage in school

BENGALURU: The headmaster of a BBMP school was suspended from service, pending departmental inquiry, for allegedly accepting a massage from a woman who visited the school to admit her child. He reportedly accepted the massage in the school premises during working hours, visuals of which went viral on Wednesday. The headmaster, Lokeshappa, admitted to it on being questioned by BBMP education department officials. The Special Commisisoner, Education, BBMP, on Wednesday ordered that Lokeshappa be suspended from service "for using the BBMP's Kodandaramapura High School for private work and dereliction of duty during government work hours as per Karnataka Civil Services Regulations and he will be eligible for subsistence allowance under KCSR rule 98 of 1958". HC upholds arm licence exemption for Kodavas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court upheld the constitutional validity and legality of the exemption granted to Kodavas from the requirement to obtain a license to carry and possess firearms, as required under the provisions of Indian Arms Act.

Pronouncing the judgement to that effect on Wednesday, a division bench of Acting Chief Justice Satish Chandra Sharma and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum said that they have rightly been granted exemption for a period of 10 years and it is not the case that they have been granted exemption indefinitely.

"Exemption granted is subject to certain terms and conditions. Therefore, the constitutional validity of the notification is upheld and consequently the petition is dismissed," the court said.

The public interest litigation was filed by Capt YK Chethan (retd) of Galibeedu village of Madikeri taluk, questioning the notification dated October 29, 2019 issued by the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA), exempting "every person of Coorg race and every Jamma tenure-holder in Coorg" from some of the provisions of the Arms Act, 1959 till October 31, 2029.

Sold infant traced to KIMS Hospital

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Vijayapura

A week after a complaint was registered against a staff nurse of Mother and Child Hospital (MCH) for allegedly selling off a one-month-old male baby, the district police have succeeded in tracing him.

After alerting all paediatric hospitals, the investigation team traced the infant at Intensive Care Unit (ICU) of Karnataka Institute of Medical Science (KIMS) Hospital in Hubballi. The premature and underweight baby is under treatment and will be in the hospital for another two weeks, according to the police.

The police have arrested 27-year-old businessman Mohammed Rafiq Hawaldar, who is a resident of Devara Hipparagi, in the case.

The one-month-old infant undergoing treatment at KIMS hospital in Hubballi

According to the police, "The accused has two children. He overheard a conversation of a 25-year-old mother, who gave birth to the infant, and staff nurse Kasturi Padasalagi when he was in the Mother and Child Hospital (MCH) for the treatment of his son. He approached and 'purchased' the infant from the mother directly by paying Rs 6,000." "In the interrogation, he revealed that he bought the baby as one of his relatives was issueless even several years of marriage. As the baby was prematurely born, he admitted it to KIMS hospital," said an inspector.

The baby was born on August 19 and the mother allegedly sold him to a stranger with the help of the staff nurse. As soon as it came to the notice of Child Helpline -1098 – they filed a complaint against the nurse on September 12.

Padmanabha temple can't skip audit, says SC

Bench says financial transaction of the temple should be checked within 3 months

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@T'Puram

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday rejected an appeal filed by the Sree Padamanabha Swamy Temple Trust (SPSTT) seeking exemption from the audit stated in the apex court's landmark judgment in the temple case last year. The three-member bench of Justice U U Lalit, Justice S R Bhat and Justice Bela M Trivedi said the special audit on the temple and the SPSTT should be completed as early as possible, preferably within three months.

The temple administrative committee informed the court that the special audit on temple accounts for twenty-five years as directed in the July 2020 verdict has commenced. The original judgment had said that the audit for 25 years should be done as per the suggestion of the amicus curiae. The amicus curiae had suggested for the audit of the temple, SPSTT and allied Trusts.

The committee report to the court said, "Thus, the auditor was entrusted to conduct special audit of the accounts of the Sree Padmanabha Swamy Temple Trust and allied Trusts, as well for a period of 25 years. But the Auditor has now informed that though he has served a letter, the said Trust has not provided the accounts of the Trust to the Audit team, so far."

Quoting the registered deed of the Trust dating back to 1965, the committee said, "it is evident that that the Trust was created only for the benefit of the temple and the temple is its sole beneficiary". As per the Trust deed, the income from the trust has to be used only for the objectives laid down in the deed. The present trustees of the Trust are members of the erstwhile Travancore royal family and persons connected to them. In his report, the amicus curiae had opined that the "utilisation of income of the Trust for the temple has not been adequately established and thus he recommended for auditing the accounts of the Trust, during the special audit."

The administrative committee said the temple was facing an unprecedented crisis, which can be resolved only with the aid of the Trust and the government.

The counsel of SPSTT submitted that the Trust was not formed with an objective of making payments in cash for the day-to-day management of the temple. It was formed to ensure the continuance of the offerings to the temple made by the erstwhile royal family.

Covid-negative certificate must for Tirupati darshan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Tirupati

THE Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD) had made it mandatory for the devotees to produce the two-dose vaccination certificate or a Covid negative test result for darshan of Lord Venkateswara at Tirumala. This is applicable to those who book either Slotted Sarva Darshan (free darshan) tokens or Special Entry Darshan tickets.

After a gap of five months, the TTD had decided to resume general darshan from September 25 onwards. The TTD stopped issuing SSD tokens in view of the covid pandemic and with the let down in fresh cases, the temple administration had on a pilot basis started issuing the tokens for the locals of Chittoor district alone at Tirupati since the past few days.

To facilitate common devotees to have darshan, the TTD had now resumed SSD tokens. TTD Trust Board Chairman YV Subba Reddy, in a statement on Wednesday, said 8000 online Quota of Special Entry Darshan tickets per day will be released at 9 am on September 24. Similarly, an equal number of 8000 Slotted Sarva Darshan (SSD) tokens per day will be released online for the period from September 26 to October 31 on September 25 at 9 am.

"We will stop the issuance of offline SSD tokens in Tirupati from September 26 onwards," he said.

As the overcrowding at SSD token issue centres earlier had allegedly become a source of the spread of pandemic Covid during the second wave, the TTD has taken a decision to stop offline issuance of tokens, he said.

Parents, AAP demand 30% cut in fees

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AFTER the Karnataka High Court directed private schools to reduce fees by 15 per cent for the academic year 2020-21, parents are now demanding that the government should set up a fee determination committee and come up with a permanent solution to the problem.

Members of parents' organisations--Samanvaya Samiti and Voice of Parents-- and Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) volunteers gathered at Maurya Circle on Wednesday to demand the establishment of a fee determination committee.

Talking to media persons, one of the parents said that the judgement on the 15 per cent fee reduction was based on Supreme Court's judgement in a case in Rajasthan. "The Karnataka government doesn't have any role in the reduction of fees, as the government and private schools had already made a deal among themselves that not a rupee will be reduced," the parent said.

He said that parents will join any political or other organisations to demand the establishment of a fee determination committee. "While 1947 witnessed the Quit India Movement, now, private schools will witness Quit Private School Movement," he said, adding, "As per our rights, we need to know not just how much we are paying but for what we are paying, and have a choice to negotiate."

He pointed out that so far, parents have been begging for fee reduction but now, it (begging) will stop, and a movement will begin.

Parents rued that government infrastructure in health and education was in a dismal state and hence, they were left to choose private schools.

Other demands of the parents include immediate setting up of effective school management committees empowering all stakeholders etc.

Varsities, R&D institutes should join hands with farmers, says minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

AGRICULTURE universities should join hands with local farmers to increase yield and quality of produce, Minister of State for Agriculture and Farmer Welfare Shobha Karandlaje has said.

Addressing an exporters conference in Bengaluru on Wednesday, Karandlaje said they have achieved success in food production, and the focus should be on further increasing the quantity and quality, food processing and marketing so that farmers' income can be doubled.

"Our farmers in Kolar and Chikkaballapur put in a lot of work to grow tomatoes... but when prices drop to Rs 3-Rs 4 per kg, they dump it on roads and protest. That can be stopped when we take up food processing and ensure that it reaches people who require it," she added.

Emphasising the need to focus on quality, the minister said agriculture universities and institutions that are engaged in research should work with the farmers in that endeavour. "Our research should not just be confined to the campuses of universities or other R&D institutes, but is should reach all farmers," she said. There is a need to reduce pesticide residue in fruits and vegetables and obtain organic certification, Karandlaje said, adding produce from North Eastern states are in great demand abroad as they do not use pesticides and have adopted organic farming.

M Angamuthu, chairman, APEDA, said as part of Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav, APEDA is organising programs across the country. Vanijya Utsav held in Bengaluru is one such programme.

Cops held peace meet with all communities

AS the family did not want to file a formal complaint with the police and vitiate the atmosphere in the village, the police held a peace meeting on Tuesday with all the communities to end the issue amicably.

But later in the day, Social Welfare Department Assistant Director Balachandra filed a complaint with the Kushtagi police. On Wednesday, the police arrested Kanakappa Poojary, Hanumanagouda, Gavisiddappa Myageri, Sharanegouda and Virupakshagouda Myageri. They have been booked under IPC Sections 504, 149 and SC-ST Act, 2015, said Superintendent of Police Shreedhar T.

"It is inhuman to restrict the entry of any community members, including Dalits, into temples," he added.

Kerala CM denies claims of forced conversions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@T'Puram

IN A strong rebuttal of the Pala Bishop's controversial statement on 'narcotic jihad', Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan on Wednesday said such a claim was baseless and added that narcotic trade had nothing to do with religion.

He said there was no need to convene an all-party meeting as demanded by the Opposition to discuss the recent controversies. The chief minister said there was no evidence to prove that people who indulge in narcotic trade belong to a particular community. He also warned that strict action will be taken against such kind of communal propaganda. He refuted claims of forced conversions.

Cruise liner's arrival hints at revival of tourism

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kochi

BEING severely hit by the pandemic, the state tourism sector saw a ray of hope with the arrival of the luxury cruise liner MV Empress, owned by Cordelia Cruises, with 1,200 guests from Mumbai at Cochin International Cruise Terminal on Wednesday. The cruise liner anchored here around 7:30am.

"With the arrival of this luxury cruise ship, the domestic tourism sector, which has been grappling with the pandemic, is expected to revive. Around 180 passengers who were fully vaccinated were given a city tour adhering to Covid protocol," said Kerala Tourism deputy director T G Abhilash Kumar.

The tourism department and Cochin Port Trust arranged a grand welcome for the guests who disembarked in Kochi with a visually and acoustically appealing performance of traditional martial dance form 'velakali', 'panchavadhyam' and 'thalappoli'.

Melbin, a native of Kochi who enjoyed the voyage with his family, said the cruise liner has all amenities one could find on an international cruise. "It has gyms, different types of swimming pools on each floor and play areas for kids. The food was amazing. The cruise has three types of cabins -- normal, ocean view and suite," he said.

VISL, MPM may soon resume operations, says MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Shivamogga

Parliament member B Y Raghavendra said that NITI Aayog has responded positively to the proposal to restart the Visvesvaraya Iron and Steel Limited (VISL) in Bhadravathi. He also said that Mysore Paper Mills (MPM) will also resume operations.

Raghavendra was addressing the gathering at an exporters conference jointly organised as part of Azadi Ka Amrut Mahotsav by the Industries and Commerce Department, District Industries Centre and District Chamber of Commerce and Industries at State Government Employees' Association Bhavan on Wednesday.

"We are putting efforts to restart VISL and MPM. We have conducted so many meetings. NITI Aayog has responded positively as well. Fillip is being given for agricultural and industrial development in the district. So far, 20,294 industrial units have invested Rs 2,646 crore, and employed over one lakh people," he said.

"Efforts are being made to include Shivamogga district under the Bengaluru-Mumbai Industrial Corridor. Road, railway and air connectivity is being improved in the district. After Bengaluru, Shivamogga airport runway will be the second longest with 3,200 metre. The airport work is expected to be completed by June next year," he said.

He said that under the UDAN scheme, five sectors have been proposed, which include Mangaluru-Shivamogga, Delhi-Shivamogga and Mumbai-Shivamogga.

NEED THOROUGH PROBE INTO SEER'S UNNATURAL DEATH

The unnatural death of Akhil Bharatiya Akhara Parishad head Mahant Narendra Giri is getting curiouser. A gritty seer who was president of the largest organisation of saints in the country, he commanded respect within the 13 akharas he led. His purported suicide note said he feared that his former disciple, Anand Giri, would frame him by releasing morphed photographs of him with women on social media. Anand Giri has since been arrested. Social media is abuzz with photos of Anand Giri draped in orange robes and posing in fast cars, luxury yachts and flashy motorcycles, presumably somewhere in Australia. The accused's detractors also claim he is currently constructing a huge ashram in Haridwar on the banks of the holy Ganga, flouting environmental laws, and with funds embezzled from a temple managed by Mahant Narendra Giri's akhara.

While the autopsy report cites asphyxiation due to hanging as the reason behind his death, the Niranjani Akhara, to which the mahant belonged before taking over as head of the Akhara Parishad, refuses to accept the suicide theory. Their challenge to the purported 15-page suicide note is that he did not know how to write, adding he only knew how to append his signature. Another point of contention is the name of the successor, Mahant Balbir Giri, mentioned in the note. The Akhara Parishad finds it odd, since the mahant belongs to the Puri order and not Giri. It's a blunder Mahant Narendra Giri couldn't have committed, making the note more suspicious, they contend. Given the contentious claims, the government ought to do a thorough investigation to unravel the actual reasons behind the untimely death.

The unfortunate incident also brings into focus the question of temple management, particularly the humongous amounts of funds they generate through donations and prasad. One of the triggers for the dispute between the mahant and his disciple is said to be land worth ₹40 crore. But temple fund management is a hot button issue, with devotees and seers ranged against any government attempt to seize control. It would be in the fitness of things if some form of self-regulation is introduced for financial oversight of the trusts that run them in the interest of probity, transparency and accountability.

THE PLIGHT OF ODISHA'S FARMERS

The latest reports by the National Statistical Office (NSO) have pricked the farm sector bubble of Odisha, where rosy pictures of growth and prosperity were being painted. A declining trend of farmer income aside, the reports show how agricultural households are tied down by poor asset holding and indebtedness as well as low access to institutional credit. One report shows that the average monthly income of farmers during the June 2018-2019 period has fallen to ₹5,112 from ₹7,731 in 2015-16. An average daily income of ₹170 per household puts farmers on the level of daily wage earners. Much of their income comes from wages while receipt from crop production is a modest ₹1,569. Not long ago, the Odisha government had proclaimed that farmer income in the state had doubled in a decade's period, between 2003 and 2013, as it registered a compound annual growth rate of 16.5% during that time. That the NSO report debunks it is another story, but what it also brings to the fore is that the poor financial health of agricultural households in the state has not shown any marked improvement. The average asset value of a cultivator household stands at ₹6.21 lakh in rural areas, which is the lowest in the country. Neighbouring Jharkhand and Chhattisgarh, states that took birth around the time the BJD government came to rule Odisha, have better figures to show.

Falling income and poor assets aside, indebtedness seems to be a critical burden on the farming community. A separate NSO report reveals that at least 61.2% agricultural households in the state are indebted, which is much higher than the national rate of 50.2%. When in need, where do the farmers go seeking loans? The same report points out that 21% borrow from professional moneylenders and another 15% seek help from relatives and friends as well as other non-institutional agencies. All these point at problems that are deep-seated and systemic for a state where farmers are at the mercy of nature and its vagaries. The reports may have been plain numbers but they have given the Odisha government plenty to introspect.

GOVT DEPARTMENTS POSE MAJOR HURDLE IN BANKRUPTCY CASES

PROSENJIT DATTA
Senior business journalist

AMIT BANDRE

There have been many heated debates of late about the 90% or higher haircuts that lenders have taken in several high-profile bankruptcy resolutions. Erstwhile promoters, resolution professionals and even the committee of creditors have all been blamed by turns for the state of affairs. Opinion writers have written angry columns and TV channels have carried heated panel discussions. Policymakers have not been sitting idle either. Several IBC clauses are being tweaked and other new clauses are being introduced to plug loopholes and make the process smoother and more robust.

One issue that has cropped up as a major hurdle in multiple bankruptcy cases but has seen very little discussion though is the role of some government departments. There have been a number of cases where either an arm of the Union government or a state government department or a regulator has thrown a spanner at the resolution process.

This should not be happening because the IBC is fairly clear where the government dues stand in a bankruptcy proceeding. For all extents and purposes, the government is an operational creditor and not seen at par with financial creditors. This includes statutory dues such as unpaid taxes, as well as fees for various licences or other approvals that the bankrupt firm has acquired and needs to pay.

In practice though, things have become complicated in taking the resolution to conclusion in several sectors. Some of the biggest cases stuck belong to the telecom sector. Take the case of bankruptcy proceedings in telecom such as R Com, Aircel and Videocon. The Department of Telecom insists that any firm that bids and wins a bankrupt company will need to pay the past AGR dues on spectrum before it can use them. Potential bidders balked at this and the case went up to the Supreme Court, which sent it to the NCLAT.

In April, the NCLAT ruled that spectrum dues of defaulting companies cannot be transferred without paying the old dues. R Com owes ₹26,000 crore as spectrum dues, Aircel owes ₹12,389 crore and Videocon about ₹1,376 crore. This ruling has pretty well sent bidders scurrying for cover.

Several corporate lawyers argue that the ruling makes little sense. Mansoor Ali Shoket, cofounding partner of RegLaw Chambers, points out that dues of Central government/ DoT under the licence (which would include spectrum dues) fall within the ambit of operational dues under the Insolvency Code. Sarvaank Associates founder Ankita Singh says that there needs to be clarity on the spectrum dues issues as do several other senior corporate lawyers.

A partner specialising in IBC cases in one of the biggest corporate law firms in the country points out that apart from telecom, various authorities are playing spoilsport in several other sectors. One of them is the real estate sector in several districts of Uttar Pradesh like Noida, Greater Noida and Ghaziabad. The authorities here want to be treated as financial, and not operational, creditors and want to be paid full dues including land for the projects of insolvent developers before any other builder can take the project over. Potential buyers say this makes the projects a non-starter. This is holding up the resolution of multiple bankruptcy cases involving defaulting builders.

> This should not be happening as the IBC is fairly clear where government dues stand in a bankruptcy proceeding. For all purposes, the government is an operational creditor and not seen at par with financial creditors

The aviation sector is seeing a slightly different issue. As anyone who follows the sector will tell you, the most important asset any airline has are the slots—the authorisation to take off or land from a particular airport at a particular time period. The most prized slots allow an airline to charge a premium for its seats and also pretty well guarantee a full load of passengers. Airplanes can always be leased and pilots and other staff can be hired, but slots are the most difficult to come by.

As one of the first private airlines in India, Jet historically had some of the best slots. Initially, when it defaulted and bankruptcy proceedings were initiated against it, the civil aviation ministry had indicated that the slots would go to anyone who won in the resolution process. However as the process dragged on, the slots were given to other airlines that were still flying. The ministry gave the impression at first that this was only temporary until a winner emerged in the resolution. Now it has said that historicity cannot be the principle on which slots will be given to the new owners of the airline. The winning bidders have said that Jet flying again will depend on whether it gets good slots or not.

These are just three prominent sectors but corporate lawyers say that unless the government and the Supreme Court take a firm stand, such issues will keep arising. The IBC was passed to remove confusion about who got precedence when it came to dues from a bankruptcy proceeding. The hierarchy of creditors was clearly laid out. The tax departments did not like being put behind a host of others in the IBC, but they accepted it. But it appears that some other departments have not quite reconciled to the basic premise of the IBC.

CAN AI REPLACE HUMAN AUTHORS IN THE NEAR FUTURE?

ATANU BISWAS
Professor of Statistics, Indian Statistical Institute, Kolkata

About one year ago, British newspaper The Guardian ran an article titled A robot wrote this entire article. Are you scared yet, human?, written by an Artificial Intelligence (AI)-enabled robot called GPT-3 (Generative Pre-trained Transformer 3). It is an autoregressive language model that uses deep learning to produce human-like text. GPT-3 was fed a short introduction and was instructed to write an op-ed of around 500 words in simple language, focusing on why humans have nothing to fear from AI. In response, it produced eight different essays. The Guardian picked the best parts of each and ran the edited piece. GPT-3 even quoted Mahatma Gandhi in its article.

A rapid revolution in the field of AI and Natural Language Processing (NLP) is going on. While the world's first-ever AI-written novel was published in Russia in 2008, the first full-length Korean novel, written by an AI named 'Birampung', hit the shelves in August. Birampung refers to a fierce storm that strikes at the beginning and end of the universe's creation. The 560-page novel was 'directed' by the novelist and mathematician Kim Tae-yon. Kim was reluctant to share the details of the technology involved. But 1,000 books were loaded in Birampung's operating system and it was equipped with the most advanced deep autonomous learning algorithm. Like a true film director, Kim picked the storyline, background and characters, but the actual writing process and the composition were made by Birampung. The novel, the name of which has been translated in English as The World from Now On, took seven years to complete and it consists of five stories in which the protagonists—a disabled amateur mathematician, a math professor and entrepreneur, a psychiatrist, an astrophysicist, and a Buddhist monk—were drawn to each other in their individual quests to understand the meaning of human existence.

Is there any existential threat for writers now? Consider GPT-3, the third-generation language prediction model in the series created by OpenAI, an artificial intelligence research company founded by Tesla billionaire Elon Musk among others. What exactly is going on inside GPT-3? An MIT Technology Review article stated: "What it seems to be good at is synthesising text it has found elsewhere on the internet, making it a kind of vast, eclectic scrapbook created from millions and millions of snippets of text that it then glues together in weird and wonderful ways on demand."

GPT-3 can also produce pastiches of particular writers. For instance, when given the title, the author's name, and the initial word "It", the AI produced a short story called The importance of being on Twitter, written in the style of Jerome K Jerome. It even wrote a reasonably informative article about GPT-3.

"Playing with GPT-3 feels like seeing the future," is what some experts feel. There are plenty of shortcomings of AIs though. Their language is not always polished. And many people spotted a lack of depth, with the text reading more like cut-and-paste jobs. Some experts have felt that GPT-3's program does nothing more than match words and phrases based on statistical correlations among those in its database. In a March 2021 article published in the journal Nature, Matthew Hutson discusses the rise and risks of language-generating AI. Hutson opines that a remarkable AI can write like humans, but it still lacks common sense in the process of understanding how the world works, physically and socially. For example, when asked, "How many rainbows does it take to jump from Hawaii to seventeen?" GPT-3 responded: "It takes two rainbows to jump from Hawaii to seventeen."

> A rapid revolution in the field of artificial intelligence and Natural Language Processing is going on. While the world's first-ever AI-written novel was published in Russia in 2008, the first full-length Korean novel, written by an AI named 'Birampung', hit the shelves in August

In The Guardian piece, GPT-3 wrote: "I am only a set of code, governed by lines upon lines of code that encompass my mission statement." GPT-3 had been trained in around 200 billion words, at an estimated cost of tens of millions of dollars. The AI thus still needs a human editor to tether its writings to reality. In fact, a few days after the op-ed written by GPT-3 was published, a follow-up letter titled A human wrote this article. You shouldn't be scared of GPT-3 was published in The Guardian. The author, Albert Fox Cahn, argued that while GPT-3 is "quite impressive... it is useless without human input and edits". "GPT-3 is just the latest example of computer-assisted authorship, the process by which human authors use technology to enhance the writing process," Cahn wrote. American programmer-poet Allison Parrish also noted: "Attributing (The Guardian article) to AI is sort of like attributing the pyramids to the Pharaoh. Pharaoh didn't do that. The workers did."

GPT-3 is an artificial neural network with over 175 billion parameters that uses only 0.12% of its cognitive capacity. It's certainly a big leap forward from GPT-2 that had 1.5 billion parameters. When GPT-4 or GPT-5 rolls around in the future, should human writers really feel dread? Will AI measure up to J K Rowling or Kazuo Ishiguro, or report on Afghanistan? In his Nature paper, Hutson wrote: "It's possible that a bigger model would do better—with more parameters, more training data, more time to learn. But this will get increasingly expensive and can't be continued indefinitely. The opaque complexity of language models creates another limitation." Still, would some GPT-n or equivalent AI be able to produce a Tagore's song or a Shakespeare's play in the near future? A new technological anxiety would, however, invariably evolve around it.

P.S: This article has been completely written by a human being, not an AI.

No logic in UK move

Although Covishield is a licensed product of a UK company manufactured in India, Britain insists on quarantine for Indian travellers vaccinated with it, thereby violating mutual recognition norms (India warns UK of reciprocal action against new vax rule, Sep 22). The UK decision cannot be justified using logic and shows racial bias.

Colonial mindset even now

India is considering reciprocal steps over the UK's quarantine rules. Paying back the UK in the same coin is one thing but that country ought to be questioned for such an arbitrary and unfounded move against India's Covidshield jab. The UK, by this move, is also betraying its deep-seated colonial mindset. But it must remember that after Brexit, it is clutching at straws to remain relevant in the global ecosystem, while on the contrary, India's stature is growing manifold.

TB and Covid treatment

A recent survey has revealed that out of 225 people who contracted tuberculosis in a month, 151 were Covid-recovered patients and the rest their contacts (Sep 21). It is suspected that steroids used for Covid treatment suppresses immunity and this triggers latent tuberculosis. This is a matter of concern in these days when steroids need to be used for moderate and severe cases of Covid. A detailed study is needed to study the connection between the use of steroids and the spread of TB.

Will empty state's coffers

The new Punjab Chief Minister Charanjit Channi has promised waiver of water and electricity charges. It sounds attractive but such populist schemes will slowly but surely empty the coffers of the state government in the long run. Further, people will not value things that are offered free of cost.

Cold-blooded murders

The involvement of politicians and professional gundas have led to these inhuman acts. The government should take suitable measures to stop the murders.

On bias in education

This is with reference to Call to 'save education' from saffronisation (Sep 22). What about 'Red-isation' of education thrust upon my generation after Independence? We were forced to learn from syllabi designed by left liberals who occupied key positions in important universities and institutions. Even today they occupy these positions and influence students to go against the present government. Those protesting now are clearly from left-oriented ideology. So who decides and how to solve it?

The impact of worry

Recent photographs of our Union finance minister show her full of grey hair. This is presumably due to concerns over India's economic revival and reminds one of the Purananuru Tamil poem on Pisiranthaiyar and the impact of worry.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

Air India CMD Rajiv Bansal was appointed as new Aviation Secretary in a major top-level bureaucratic reshuffle on Wednesday, with 13 Union ministries and departments getting new secretaries. Bansal will replace the current Aviation Secretary Pradeep Singh Kharola, who is retiring on September 30. He was appointed chairman and managing director of Air India for a second time in February last year. His appointment came just days after the government announced 100% stake sale of the debt-ridden national carrier.

Based on approval by the Appointment Committee of Cabinet, 1989-batch IAS officer of Tamil Nadu cadre K Rajaraman will take charge as new Telecom Secretary after the retirement of incumbent Anshu Prakash on September 30. At present, Rajaraman is Additional Secretary in the Expenditure Department of the Finance Ministry.

Steel Secretary Pradip Kumar Tripathi has been appointed Secretary, Department of Personnel and Training (DoPT) while Govind Mohan, Additional Secretary in the Department of Home, will now be Secretary, Ministry of Culture.

Delhi Development Authority's Vice Chairman Anurag Jain has been appointed Secretary, Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade while K Sanjay Murthy, CEO and MD of the National Industrial Corridor Development Corporation Limited will be Secretary, Department of Higher Education. Devendra Kumar Singh, Additional Secretary and Development Commissioner, Ministry of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises will be Secretary, Ministry of Cooperation.

Sunil Barthwal, who is Central Provident Fund Commissioner in the Employees Provident Fund Organisation, was named Secretary, Ministry of Labour and Employment.

Anuradha Prasad, Special Secretary in the Ministry of Labour, has been moved as Secretary, Inter State Council Secretariat, MHA. Lok Ranjan and Sujata Chaturvedi, both working as additional secretaries in DoPT, will now be Secretary in Ministry of Development of North Eastern Region and Department of Sports, respectively. The government also upgraded nine additional secretary level officers in the rank and pay of secretary.

'States to pay ₹50K as ex-gratia for Covid deaths'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA) has recommended that ₹50,000 be given to the next of kin of those who died of Covid-19 and this would be paid by the states from the State Disaster Response Fund, the Centre informed the Supreme Court on Wednesday.

In a affidavit, the government said ex-gratia assistance will also be given to the kin of those who died of the virus due to involvement in Covid-19 relief operations or activities associated with the preparedness for the pandemic.

"The ex-gratia assistance will be given subject to the cause of death being certified as Covid-19 as per the guidelines issued by Ministry of Health and Family Welfare and ICMR," the affidavit stated. It added that the ex-gratia assistance will be provided by states from State Disaster Response Fund (SDRF).

The families concerned will submit their claims through a form issued by the state authorities along with specified documents, including those certifying the cause of death.

The district disaster management authorities will ensure that the process of claim, verification, sanction, and disbursal is simple, robust, and people-friendly. "All claims must be settled within 30 days of submission of the required documents, and disbursed through the Aadhaar-linked direct benefit transfer procedures," the Centre's affidavit said.

Grievances, if any, will be handled by district-level committees consisting of Additional District Collector, Chief Medical Officer of Health (CMOH), Additional CMOH or the Principal or Head of Department of Medicine at a Medical College (if one existing the district), and a subject expert.

The committee will, after verifying facts, propose necessary remedial measures, includingissuance of amended official documents. "In case the committee's decision is not in favour of the claimant, a clear reason for the same shall be recorded," the affidavit said.

The SC had in on June 30 directed the NDMA to recommend within six weeks the guidelines for ex-gratia assistance on account of loss of life due to Covid-19.

Govt puts foot down on Pfizer, Moderna jabs

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

BUOYED by the improved supply of Covid-19 vaccines in India over the last few weeks, the Centre has decided to put on hold the ongoing negotiations with Pfizer and Moderna to import their vaccines. The talks have been stuck over demand of indemnity by these firms.

The government has not been agreeing to the demand of the US companies for legal protection in case of any side-effects from the use of their vaccines despite having been in a negotiation with them since May.

Health ministry officials said the government sees no point in going ahead with the talks as supply from local vaccine makers had "considerably improved and will get better in the coming months". The government has put its foot down as no company has received such protection in India so far, said a source.

In India, 83 lakh vaccine doses have been administered so far. Over the last one month, nearly 75 lakh shots are being administered on a daily basis.

For September, the government has projected the availability of nearly 20-22 crore doses while in October, this figure is expected to reach about 30 crore-mark. "From October, the daily vaccinations could go up to 1.2-1.3 crore every day," N K Arora, head of the Covid-19 working group of National Technical Advisory Group Immunisation had earlier told this newspaper. This was without taking into account vaccines by Pfizer and Moderna, he added.

A note prepared by the Centre last month had projected the production of nearly 78 crore doses of Covishield and Covaxin between September-November. Government sources said vaccines by Zydus Cadila, Biological E, Covovax and Gennova will also be available from October. "We are hoping to get 35-40 crore doses in the next three months which will take the total tally to nearly 200 crore doses by the year-end," said a source.

3% packaged food had trans-fat above 2%: Survey

New Delhi: Only about 3% packaged food items in India were found to be containing trans-fat exceeding 2% — the limit set by the food safety regulator — in a survey. The results of the survey by the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India, in association with the Quality Council of India, are based on an analysis of about 6,200 food items, which included sweets, toppings and chocolates, fried, composite and frozen food, bakery and confectionary products and oils. Only 3.14% or 196 samples contained trans-fat exceeding 2% and about 90% of the samples that exceeded the limit were oils, vanaspati, shortenings and margarine. The analysis of 5,176 samples collected from the other five categories of food products, on the other hand, showed only 0.4% or 20 samples contained more than 2 per cent trans-fat.

2022 polls: BJP braces for split in Jat votes in western Uttar Pradesh

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

THE Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) is facing an uphill task to hold on to the Jat constituency in western Uttar Pradesh in the run-up to the assembly elections early next year. The growing consensus within the party appears converging on a likely split in the Jat vote base.

The BJP had gained from the polarisation in western UP after the 2013 Muzaffarnagar riots, sweeping constituencies in the elections held thereafter — the 2014 and 2019 Lok Sabha polls and the 2017 state elections.

However, party leaders believe this time the Jat votes will split between the BJP and the Rashtriya Lok Dal (RLD) due to various factors, including the farmers' agitation. "The ground situations now seem to be different in western UP.

Even though the Jats mostly grow sugarcane in the region, which is not impacted by the new farm laws, there are signs of the community drifting away from the BJP for reasons, which include the rising input costs in farming and the perceived political marginalisation," said a senior BJP functionary.

A CSDS-Lokniti post-poll survey had claimed that the Jats had overwhelmingly voted for the BJP in 2017 and 2019 elections despite the RLD being a partner in a Mahagathbandhan with the Samajwadi Party and the Bahujan Samaj Party.

The BJP had gained the community's overwhewming support seemingly riding on the PM-Kisan Nidhi scheme, under which ₹6,000 is directly credited into the bank accounts of the farmers annually. The outcome was such that both Ajit Singh and his son Jayant Choudhary lost the elections from Muzaffarnagar and Baghpat constituencies.

"There are 80 assembly seats where the Jat votes can decide the outcome. But the saving grace for the BJP is likely to be RLD's lack of ability to transfer the Jat votes to other parties. The RLD, in the scenario of a grand alliance, is not likely to contest more than 35 seats, which should make the BJP the first choice for the Jat voters in the non-RLD seats," said another BJP leader.

The Jat vote is stated to be roughly about 14 per cent in 20 odd districts of western UP. The BJP leaders hope that any losses in this region will be compensated by the gains in other parts of the state.

Caste divisions may upset Cong's SC plan in Punjab

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Congress has evidently chosen Charanjit Singh Channi as Punjab's first Scheduled Caste (SC) CM to encash the SC votes in the assembly polls next year. Although the SCs constitute one-third of the state's population, they have so far not voted en bloc.

The SCs are 32 per cent of Punjab's population — 19.4% Sikhas, 12.4% Hindus and 0.98% Buddhists — as per the 2011 census. They have remained politically divided on the basis of caste lines.

The further break-up of the SC community comprises Mazhabi Sikhs (26.33%), Ravidassia and Ramdasia (20.76%) — to which CM Channi belongs — Ad-Dharmi (10.17%) and Balmiki (8.06%).

The Congress had in 2017 assembly elections got 41 per cent SC Sikh and 43 per cent SC Hindu votes. In 2012, the party got 51 per cent SC Sikh and 37 per cent SC Hindu votes. In 2007, it got 49 per cent SC Sikh 56 per cent SC Hindu votes. In 2002, it got 33 per cent SC Sikh and 47 per cent SC Hindu votes.

"The Scheduled Castes among Sikhs and Hindus don't vote for a single party in Punjab. They go by their old party affiliations. Mazhabi Sikhs, Ravidassia, Ramdasia, and Ad-Dharmi communities compete among themselves for political space. This may complicate the situation for the Congress," said a political observer.

He further observed: "Mazhabi Sikhs are the biggest community among the Scheduled Caste in the state. The opposition parties can now try to work on them. Urban-based Balmikis always go with the Congress. The SAD has managed to make inroads into the rural-based community of Mazhabi Sikhs. If Channi performs well, the Congress may get five per cent floating votes in its favour."

Hit & run new tactic of J&K terror units

SANA SHAKIL @ New Delhi

TERROR groups, diminished by a spate of anti-terror operations, have changed their tactics from fighting pitched gun battles with security forces to hit-and- run attacks. Government data accessed by this newspaper shows a remarkable increase in attacks against security forces in the form of grenade lobbying and IED plants.

At a time when some reports have indicated a flow of arms from Afghanistan to Jammu and Kashmir, this could be a worrying trend for Security Forces, an internal assessment by the Ministry of Home Affairs reveals.

In terms of percentage, the IED attacks in Kashmir Valley during January-September have increased by about six times compared to corresponding period last year. As of September 15, seven IED attacks were reported in J&K while the number was only one last year.

There has also been a jump in the number of IEDs seized and defused this year, according to a report submitted to MHA. As many as 38 IEDs have been defused by security forces so far whereas last year till September 15, the number was 28.

CAPT RAPS GANDHIS, VOWS TO TROUNCE SIDHU

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

DAYS after stepping down as Punjab chief minister, Capt Amarinder Singh on Wednesday took his first public swipe at the Gandhi siblings leading the party, Rahul and Priyanka, for forcing his hand, saying they were quite inexperienced, adding they were misguided.

He also announced his decision to field a strong candidate against new Punjab Congress unit chief Navjot Singh Sidhu — who led the rebellion against him — to ensure his defeat in the forthcoming Assembly elections. "He is dangerous for the state," he said as he lit into Sidhu. By saying so, he appeared to be baiting the party to expel him.

Amarinder also said he would continue fighting against Sidhu's elevation or making him the chief ministerial face tooth and nail.

He questioned the judgement of the Gandhi siblings' advisors, K C Venugopal, Ajay Maken and Randeep Surjewala, who helped constitute the new ministry led by Charanjit Singh Channi, and termed Sidhu as the super chief minister.

Asserting that he will only leave politics on a high, Amarinder said, "I was ready to leave after victory but never after a loss. He disclosed that he had offered his resignation to party president Sonia Gandhi three weeks ago but she had asked him to continue. "If she had just called me and asked me to step down, I would have," he said, adding, "as a soldier, I know how to do my task and leave once I am called back."

He bitterly criticised the Congress Legislative Party meeting called in a secretive manner to unseat him. "I would not have taken MLAs on a flight to Goa or some place... the Gandhi siblings know that is not my way," he said, adding, "Priyanka and Rahul (Gandhi siblings) are like my children. This should not have ended like this. I am hurt."

OPTIONS OPEN ON FUTURE TRAJECTORY

Indicating he was keeping his political options open, Capt Amarinder Singh said he was talking to his friends before deciding on his future course of action. "You can be old at 40 and young at 80," he quipped, making it clear that he did not see his age as a hurdle, going forward

Erdogan's K-reference prompts India's Cyprus retort

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

TURKISH President Recep Tayyip Erdogan yet again raked up the Kashmir issue during his address at the United Nations General Assembly, prompting India to pay back in kind and call for Turkey to respect the UNSC resolutions on Cyprus.

"We maintain our stance in favour of solving the ongoing problem in Kashmir for 74 years through dialogue between the parties and within the framework of relevant United Nations resolutions," Erdogan said. Last year, too, he had made a reference to Kashmir in his pre-recorded speech at the UNGA.

Hours after his remarks, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar met his Cyprus counterpart Nikos Christodoulides and stressed the need for Turkey to respect and adhere to the UNSC resolutions on Cyprus. "Working to take our economic ties forward. Appreciated his regional insights. Important that relevant UN Security Council resolutions in respect of Cyprus are adhered to by all," Jaishankar tweeted after the meeting.

The reference to the resolutions refers to the recognition of North Cyprus by Turkey, which came into being in 1974 when Turkey invaded the northern part of the country in response to a military coup on the island which was backed by the Greek government. Turkey is the only nation which recognises North Cyprus while the Republic of Cyprus is internationally recognised.

Erdogan, in his address, also referred to China's Uyghur Muslims in Xinjiang and Myanmar's Rohingya. "Within China's territorial integrity perspective, we do believe that more efforts need to be displayed regarding the protection of the basic rights of the Muslim Uyghur Turks," he said.

BJP holds Chintan Shivir in Rajasthan with eye on 2023 polls

JAIPUR: Though the Rajasthan assembly election is slated in 2023, the BJP has started its preparations by holding a two day 'Chintan Shivir' in Kumbhalgarh. BJP national general secretary BL Santosh headed the Shivir which was attended by state unit chief Satish Punia, Rajya Sabha MP Om Mathur and other senior state leaders including Gulabchand Karatia. However, former CM Vasundhara Raje stayed away, which has once again brought to the fore the rift in the state BJP. Santosh reviewed the works related to the state unit. Party sources said the emphasis was on making the party organisation more active. Much of the discussion centred around addressing the party's weaknesses and internal differences, with Santosh calling for putting a full stop on factionalism. Tackling infighting still remains on top of the agenda for the state BJP. — Rajesh Asnani

Seer laid to rest as autopsy rules out any foul play

No anti-mortem injuries on body, says panel; UP govt recommends CBI probe into death

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

AS the deceased president of Akhil Bharatiya Akhara Parishad (ABAP), Mahant Narendra Giri was given a 'Bhoo Samadhi' (burial in ground) following Vedic rituals on the premises of Baghambri Math on Wednesday, following his last wish in the purported suicide note, his post-mortem report revealed that the death occurred due to asphyxiation.

The report claimed that a ligature mark was also found around his neck. However, the report has ruled out any 'anti-mortem injuries' on Mahant's body. As per the report, the prima facie cause of death is 'asphyxiation due to hanging'. The viscera of the body has been preserved for further probe, if need arises.

Meanwhile, the UP government on Wednesday night recommended a probe by the CBI into the Mahant's death.

Earlier on Wednesday, mortal remains of the Mahant, who allegedly committed suicide on Monday evening, were taken to the Swaroop Rani Medical College in Prayagraj for post-mortem to ascertain the reason of his death.

"A panel of 20 doctors was set up by the state government, out of which five doctors were chosen for conducting the post-mortem procedure. The post-mortem will be videographed," said one of the members of Baghamabari Math.

As per sources, the entire autopsy process was video-graphed and the report was then sealed on the spot in order to ensure it is not tinkered with.

The mortal remains were then taken for a 'Bhoo Samadhi' at his Math. As a mark of respect, the district administration of Prayagraj had announced a holiday for secondary schools on Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Anand Giri and Adya Tiwari, who were quoted in the suicide note allegedly written by the Mahant as the ones responsible for pushing him to end his life, were sent to 14-day judicial custody by the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate (CJM) in Prayagraj on Wednesday.

In another development, the guard deployed in the security of the late Mahant was removed and a departmental probe was initiated against him.

Apex body of Akharas launches own probe, refutes suicide theory

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Lucknow

THE demise of Mahant Narendra Giri has intensified Akhara politics. Akhil Bharatiya Akhara Parishad (ABAP) and Nirajani Akhara have rejected the suicide theory. They've also refuted the note allegedly written by the seer before ending life. Suspecting a foul play, they have demanded a probe by an HC judge. Notably, Mahant Narendra Giri was ABAP president, the apex body of 13 Akharas across the country.

The Akhara Parishad told reporters in Prayagraj that it had postponed the appointment of Mahant Narendra Giri's successor at Baghambari Gaddi Math. However, the late seer had written in his alleged suicide note that Mahant Balbir Giri should be nominated as his successor.

Refusing the appointment of Balbir Giri, the ABAP said the letter written by Mahant*ji* was fake and that the appointment of his successor would be decided later by the Parishad.

It claimed that Parishad had launched its own probe. It said it would come out with its findings only after September 25. "When the 16–day rituals of Mahant Narendra Giriji Maharaj will conclude, the Parishad will decide on his successor," said Mahant Hari Giri, secretary, ABAP.

Influential UP cleric held on charge of illegal conversions

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

THE Anti-Terror Squad (ATS) of Uttar Pradesh Police has zeroed in on a prominent cleric from western UP on charges of illegal religious conversions.

Maulana Kaleem Siddiqui, who hails from Muzaffarnagar district, is believed to be one of the most prominent clerics in the region.

A statement issued by the UP ATS said the cleric was taken into custody while he was returning to his home in Muzaffarnagar after attending a programme in Meerut on Tuesday night. Angry locals immediately launched a protest outside Lisari Gate police station to know his whereabouts.

While briefing media persons about the ATS operation on Wednesday, Uttar Pradesh ADG (Law and Order) Prashant Kumar claimed the cleric had "direct links" with the "mass unlawful conversion racket" busted by the ATS in June this year. Police sources claimed that Siddiqui used to run Jamia Imam Walliullah Trust which funds various madarsas across UP and outside.

For this Trust, the cleric is believed to have received huge funds from abroad.

"Siddiqui not only funded and oversaw conversion activities but also used his Trust to fund madrasas involved in unlawful conversion," said Kumar. The ADG further said that the Trust received huge amounts of foreign funds and that investigation showed it received ₹3 crore in foreign funding, including ₹1.5 crore from Bahrain.

The ADG added that six teams of the ATS have been formed to investigate the case further. In June this year, eight persons were arrested by the ATS for being allegedly involved in illegal conversions of over 1,000 people. They were charged with "waging war against India".

Land holdings, assets of Math come under focus

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Lucknow

THE sudden demise of Mahant Narendra Giri has triggered enquiries into his life and the assets of Baghamabri Gaddi Math which he was heading.

Moreover, the arrest of Anand Giri in connection with the incident has led to speculations about the huge property over which the two were engaged in an intense dispute.

Giri has alleged that the deceased seer was being pressurised by many forces over land deals involving the Akhara.

As per local sources, Baghambari Math, owned by Niranjani Akahara to which Mahant Narendra Giri originally belonged, has expansive land holdings in UP.

Moreover, the temple of Bade Hanumanji along the Triveni At Sangam, is also owned by Baghambari Math. This temple attracts lakhs of devotees from across the country each year resulting in huge amount of 'chadhava' (offerings) running into crores of rupees.

PROPERTIES SPREAD ACROSS STATES

The total assets owned by Niranjani Akhara in UP would be worth over `300 crore, said sources. Outside UP, the Akhara is believed to have properties in Uttarakhand, MP, Gujarat, Maharashtra and Rajasthan

SOLDIER'S KIN CLAIM FOR RECOVERED BODY

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

A decomposed body was recovered by police in south Kashmir's Kulgam district on Wednesday. It is suspected that the body is of army man Shakir Manzoor, who was abducted by militants on August 2, 2020. While the family said the body was that of Shakir, the police were conducting a DNA match to ascertain the matter. A police official said some locals noticed the decomposed body near a mobile phone tower in village Mohammad Pora on Wednesday morning.

"We identified the body. It was Shakir's body as there was a surgery mark on his left leg and the mark was very much visible," said Shakir's brother Shaan Manzoor Wagay.

The police, according to Shaan, has taken DNA samples of the family and it will be matched with the DNA samples of the body recovered today. Shakir, a 24-year-old soldier of Territorial Army, was abducted by militants on August 2 last year near his residence at Reshipora.

Ravi submits resignation, path clear for naming new Naga interlocutor

SANA SHAKIL @New Delhi

OFFICIALLY paving way for appointment of a new interlocutor for Naga peace talks, Tamil Nadu governor RN Ravi on Wednesday resigned from the post and his resignation was accepted by the central government "with immediate effect".

A Union home ministry spokesperson tweeted, "R N Ravi's resignation as interlocutor for the Naga peace process, submitted by him today, has been accepted with immediate effect."

The clear indications for Ravi's removal from the post of interlocutor came on September 9 itself when he was transferred as the governor of TN from being the governor of Nagaland. Ravi, with who last year Naga insurgent group NSCN-IM had refused to hold any discussions, had been the Centre's interlocutor for Naga peace talks since 2014.

Ravi was appointed the governor of Nagaland in July 2019 and was continuing his role as the interlocutor on behalf of the central government. The New Indian Express first reported about the resumption of Naga peace talks between the central government and NSCN (IM) on September 18. On September 20, former special director of the Intelligence Bureau, A K Mishra led the talks on behalf of the central government with the Naga rebel group in Dimapur.

This newspaper had also reported that Mishra was likely to be appointed the new interlocutor of Naga peace talks. On Tuesday, a senior government functionary told this newspaper that a notification for Mishra's appointment might be issued soon.

BJP mocks Mamata for 'single vote' appeal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kolkata

KICKING off her by-election campaign in Bhowanipore, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Wednesday urged the electorate to vote for her saying otherwise she would not be able to continue as the chief minister of the state.

"Even a single vote is very important to me. If you don't cast your vote thinking that Didi will surely win this election, it will be a major mistake. If there is heavy rain or storm, don't sit idle at home... Cast your vote. Otherwise I will not able to continue as the chief minister. You will get another new chief minister," said Mamata while addressing a rally at Ekbalpore.

The tone of Mamata's appeal is said to be a reflection of her desperation to win the bypoll. Even though her party secured a thumping majority in the recent assembly elections by bagging 213 out of 292 seats, it was dented by her defeat at Nandigram.

The BJP, which has emerged as Mamata's contender in Bhowanipore, did not miss the opportunity to highlight the chief minister's appeal for its own political gain.

"The tide in Bhowanipore is not exactly what Mamata Banerjee had expected. It seems she has sensed that the going is getting tougher for her as polling day draws closer. She has now been forced to come out and campaign. But the silence of the voters is where the real story lies," tweeted BJP's IT cell chief Amit Malviya.

Reiterating the conspiracy theory against her by citing the Nandigram mishap in which she was injured, Mamata said, "I got sandwiched between the door of my vehicle and front seat. They targeted my throat. But fortune favoured me and my life was saved as I received injuries on my leg. I still suffer pain."

Meanwhile, BJP's newly appointed state president Sukanta Majumdar and other functionaries alleged that they were not allowed by the police to campaign for the bypoll in Bhowanipore near Mamata's residence on Wednesday.

6 govt staffers sacked for terror links

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

THE Jammu and Kashmir government on Wednesday terminated services of six more government employees for alleged militant and anti-national activities. The six sacked employees included two teachers, two policemen, a forest range official and a junior assistant in the PWD.

All the six have been sacked under sub-clause (c) of the proviso to Clause (2) of Article 311 of the Constitution under which no inquiry is held and dismissed employees can only approach a high court.

Official sources said the dismissed policeman and junior assistant had allegedly helped militants snatch rifle from a policeman and provided logistic support to militants respectively. While one of the teachers was formerly part of a militant outfit, the second teacher is said to be a former militant. The forest range officer and another policeman are alleged to be militant sympathisers.

Made-in-Bihar agro & art products in 75 countries

After decades of neglect, Bihar's various indigenous agro-products including litchi, mangoes, makhana, and the arts and crafts — Madhubani paintings — will get new wings to fly across the world's 75 countries soon. "Products made in Bihar will be exported to 75 countries to utilise the state's immense potential in the food processing sector and others," said state Industry Minister Syed Shahnawaz Hussain after inaugurating the two-day 'Vanijayutsav' exhibition in Patna. He said: "Bihar is working with the PM's 'Local Goes Global & Make In India For The World' dream. The India State Export Promotion Council is to set up a new office in Bhagalpur to promote Bhagalpur's silk across the globe."

Bihar becomes first to simplify Motor Vehicle Rules

Bihar has simplified the amended version of the Bihar Motor Vehicle Rules to ensure the easy payments of claims after road accidents to the dependents of victims. This is the first time in the country that a state is taking steps in this regard, claimed officials. "With this in effect, the dependents of deceased or the victims of a road accident will get an interim ex-gratia of `5 lakh within 15 days of the accident on road or in the aftermath of deaths," said transport secretary Sanjay K Aggarwal. Aggarwal said, as per the new Act, the dependents of the deceased of road accidents or the grievously injured persons in the accidents would not have to face the lengthy litigation processes for claims.

Second ropeway to legendry Mandaar Hilltop

Continuously working to promote eco-tourism in the state, Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Tuesday dedicated the state's second ropeway on Mandaar hilltop in Banka district to the visitors. "With this ropeway, one can reach the hilltop of Mandaar Hill in just four minutes from the ground to see the panoramic view of the Mandaar. This is a long-cherished dream come true for the people," Kumar said, adding that the second ropeway was built at `9.18 crore. The travel length of the Mandar ropeway is 377.36 metres.

Macron orders diplomat to return to US next week

PARIS

PRESIDENT Emmanuel Macron on Wednesday ordered the French ambassador to return to Washington next week after a phone call with American counterpart Joe Biden aimed at calming tensions in a row over a ditched submarine contract for Australia, a joint statement said.

The talks were the first communication between the two leaders since the announcement Australia was scrapping a contract to buy French submarines as part of a security pact with the UK and US.

Macron then recalled his ambassadors to Australia and the US for consulations in a sign of French anger.

"Macron has decided that the French Ambassador will return to Washington next week. He will then start intensive work with senior US officials," the joint statement said.

Macron and Biden also vowed to launch a process of "in-depth consultations" to restore confidence and to meet in Europe at the end of October, the statement said.

This meeting would seek "to reach shared understandings and maintain momentum in this process," the statement said. It added: "The two leaders agreed that the situation would have benefitted from open consultations among allies on matters of strategic interest to France and our European partners."

It said Biden also agreed on the need for stronger European defence to complement NATO, a key idea repeatedly floated by Macron.

"The United States also recognizes the importance of a stronger and more capable European defense, that contributes positively to transatlantic and global security and is complementary to NATO," the statement said.

British Prime Minister Boris Johnson dismissed French anger over the submarine deal, saying French officials should "get a grip."

Speaking to reporters, Johnson said the deal was "fundamentally a great step forward for global security. It's three very like-minded allies standing shoulder-to-shoulder, creating a new partnership for the sharing of technology." AFP

Unrest in Myanmar town near India sparks exodus

Military accused of bombing civilian homes as fighting intensifies in Thantlang in Chin state from where hundreds had already fled to India

YANGON

THOUSANDS have fled a town in west Myanmar, near India border after days of fighting between anti-junta dissidents and the military, during which soldiers bombed civilian homes, residents and local media said Wednesday.

Attacks on junta troops and assets have increased after lawmakers ousted by the generals called for a "people's defensive war" earlier this month.

Soldiers fought a gun battle with around 100 members of a local defence group after being "ambushed" in Thantlang in remote Chin state on September 18, junta spokesman Zaw Min Thun said Tuesday.

He did not give any casualty figures.

Residents began to flee en masse on Monday after soldiers "began to randomly shoot out the windows" of houses in the town, according to one local who did not want to be named.

"Almost everyone has left," he said, adding he was sheltering in a nearby village with around 500 people, and that several hundred had already fled towards the India border.

Thantlang has a population of around 7,500 according to the most recent census.

Another resident said she travelled for three days with her elderly parents to reach India after soldiers bombed her house and fighting escalated around the town.

> I never thought of running from my own house even after the military bombed it... but as things got worse... I finally had to flee
>
> A resident of Thantlang

Videos and pictures published by local media showed buildings in Thantlang they said had been destroyed by the military, and domestic animals roaming deserted streets.

Military spokesman Zaw Min Thun said 20 homes and a government building had been destroyed in a fire after the September 18 clash, without specifying a cause.

In recent weeks anti-junta fighters have attacked communications towers belonging to the military-owned Mytel across the country.

The UN warned renewed fighting in the region was sending more people fleeing into India, where they urgently required food and shelter.

In May, government forces used artillery to flush out rebels from the town of Mindat in southern Chin state, and later cut off its water supply, according to a spokesman for a local insurgent group.

More than 1,100 civilians have been killed since the coup. The junta has defended its power grab by alleging massive fraud during elections in late 2020 which Suu Kyi's National League for Democracy won by a landslide. AFP

Gunmen open fire at Taliban vehicles, 5 killed

KABUL

ATTACKERS struck Taliban vehicles in an eastern Afghanistan on Wednesday, witnesses said, killing at least two fighters and three civilians in the latest violence since the group's takeover of the country in mid-August.

In one attack, gunmen opened fire on a Taliban vehicle at a local gas station in the provincial capital of Jalalabad, killing two fighters and a gas station attendant, witnesses said. A child was also killed, they added.

Another child was killed and two Taliban were wounded in a separate attack —a bombing of another vehicle. Another bombing of a Taliban vehicle in Jalalabad also wounded a person nearby, although it was unclear if that person was a Taliban official or not.

The witnesses spoke on condition of anonymity for fear of retribution.

No one claimed immediate responsibility for Wednesday's attacks, although the Islamic State group, which is headquartered in eastern Afghanistan, took responsibility for similar attacks in Jalalabad last week that killed eight.

The Taliban and IS are enemies, and the attacks have raised the specter of wider conflict between the country's new Taliban rulers and their long-time rivals.

The Taliban are under pressure to contain IS militants, in part to make good on a promise to the international community that they will prevent the staging of terror attacks from Afghan soil. There is also a widely held expectation among conflict-weary Afghans that — despite fears and misgivings about the Taliban — the new rulers will at least restore a measure of public safety.

The weapons and military equipment left behind by the US withdrawal from Afghanistan, including through the collapse of the Afghan army, are now largely in the hands of the Taliban – and likely other terror groups as well.

As a result of both abandonment and poor tracking, the Islamic State group, the Taliban and other militant groups managed to acquire American-supplied anti-armor weapons, tanks, drones and massive numbers of small arms, like rifles, and light weapons, such as machine guns and basic rockets. Many of the more advanced weapons and equipment may not prove useful to the Taliban, because they are too complex or require special maintenance – or were damaged or destroyed by US forces.

However, easier-to-use high-tech equipment, such as communications instruments and night vision goggles, will help the Taliban. AP

Russia, China, Pak hold talks with interim govt in Kabul

KABUL

SPECIAL envoys of China, Russia and Pakistan have met the top officials of the Taliban's interim government as well as Afghan leaders Hamid Karzai and Abdullah Abdullah in Kabul and discussed the formation of an inclusive government, combating terrorism and humanitarian situation, a top Chinese official said on Wednesday.

The three special envoys visited Kabul from September 21 to 22 and held talks with acting Prime Minister Mohammad Hasan Akhund, Foreign Minister Amir Khan Mutaqi, Finance Minister and other high-level officials of the interim government, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman told media.

Significantly, they also met with former president Hamid Karzai and Abdullah Abdullah, President of the Council for National Reconciliation under the previous government. This is perhaps the first time that the foreign diplomats met Karzai and Abdullah who stayed put in Kabul after the Taliban seized power. AFP

Trump sues niece, NYT over tax story

New York: Former US president Donald Trump on Tuesday filed a $100 million lawsuit against his estranged niece Mary Trump and The New York Times, alleging they engaged in "an insidious plot" to obtain his tax returns for the paper's Pulitzer Prize-winning investigation of his finances. "The defendants engaged in an insidious plot to obtain confidential and highly-sensitive records which they exploited for their own benefit and utilized as a means of falsely legitimizing their publicized works," the lawsuit says, alleging they were "motivated by a personal vendetta." Mary was the daughter of the eldest Trump brother Fred.

Nepal recalls envoys from India, 11 countries

KATHMANDU

PRIME Minister Sher Bahadur Deuba-led Nepal government has decided to recall ambassadors from 12 nations appointed by former premier K P Sharma Oli, including envoy to India Nilamber Acharya, according to a media report.

With this decision, out of 33, Nepal's 23 diplomatic missions abroad will remain vacant from the next three weeks to one month. As many as 11 missions have been headless for a long time, The Kathmandu Post reported.

"A Cabinet meeting today decided to recall the ambassadors appointed under political quotas by the Oli government," said Minister for Law, Justice and Parliamentary Affairs Gyanendra Bahadur Karki.

"Those appointed from among career diplomats will carry on their duties," Karki said. The decision will mean Nepal will not have ambassadors in some key countries, with which it has a 'very close' working relationship, including India, China, the United States and the United Kingdom.

Sher Bahadur Deuba

Other than Acharya, Mahendra Bahadur Pandey, Yubaraj Khatiwada and Lok Darshan Regmi, who are serving in Beijing, Washington DC and London respectively, now will have to return as per the new decision of the Deuba government. Acharya was appointed to lead the Delhi mission in February 2019.

Earlier, on July 18, five days after the new government was formed, Deuba's Cabinet had cancelled 11 recommendations made by the Oli government as ambassadors to different countries.

Various appointments, including ambassadorial, in Nepal for years have been guided by political interests and people manage to get such posts depending upon their affinity to the parties. PTI

Narrow escape for Ukrainian president's aide after shots fired

KIEV

THE chief aide to Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelensky was targeted in an assassination attempt on Wednesday when his car came under fire, officials said.

"Today at around 10 am, near the village of Lesniki, the car of the president's chief aide Sergei Shefir came under fire," an advisor to the country's interior minister, Anton Gerashchenko, said on Facebook.

"More than 10 bullets hit the car. The driver is seriously injured."

He added that police had launched a special operation around the capital Kiev.

"Unidentified individuals fired about 10 shots from a 7.62 calibre automatic weapon," Ukraine's Prosecutor General Iryna Venediktova said on Facebook.

She added that an investigation was underway for a case of "attempted murder".

Official reports did not state whether Shefir was injured, but a lawmaker representing Zelensky's "Servant of the People" party said he was fine.

"I briefly spoke to him, everything is fine, he is alive and well," Davyd Arakhamia was cited by Russia's RIA Novosti news agency as saying. Shefir, 57, was born in Ukrainian city of Kryvyi Rig. AFP

RARE QUAKE RATTLES AUSSIES IN MELBOURNE

MELBOURNE

A rare quake rattled southeastern Australia on Wednesday, shaking buildings, knocking down walls and sending panicked Melbourne residents running into the streets.

The shallow 5.9 magnitude tremor hit east of the country's second-largest city at the start of the working day and was one of the largest to hit the country in decades.

With Melbourne beginning its eighth week of pandemic lockdown and braced for a third straight day of violent anti-vaccine protests, most residents were at home when the quake struck. Zume Phim, 33, owner of Melbourne's Oppen cafe, said he rushed onto the street as the tremor hit. "The whole building was shaking. All the windows, the glass, was shaking—like a wave of shaking," he said.

A building damaged by Wednesday's earthquake in Melbourne | AP

"I have never experienced that before. It was a little bit scary." In a popular shopping area around Melbourne's Chapel Street, masonry debris tumbled from buildings and littered the roads. Bricks and rubble surrounded a burger restaurant and large sheets of metal hung off the restaurant awning. "We were fortunate that nobody was in the restaurant at the time," the restaurant said in a Facebook post.

Victoria's State Emergency Service said it had received 100 calls for assistance "largely related to minor structural damage to chimneys and facades on buildings."

"It was quite violent but everyone was kind of in shock," a Melbourne cafe worker, said.

Sizable earthquakes are unusual in Australia.

At magnitude 5.9 and a depth of 10 kilometres, this was "the biggest event in southeast Australia for a long time," a geologist said. AFP

Zee and Sony to merge; Goenka to be at the helm

New entity to have 75 channels, which will control over 1/4th of total viewership market

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

JAPANESE multinational conglomerate Sony has come to the rescue of Zee Entertainment Enterprises' (ZEEL) Punit Goenka, son of promoter Subhash Chandra and MD & CEO of the firm, who till last week was facing opposition from the firm's largest shareholders.

Sony Pictures Networks India (SPNI), a step-down subsidiary of Sony Corp, and ZEE on Wednesday announced a proposed merger to create India's largest entertainment network with 75 channels which will control over 1/4th of total viewership market.

This development took place after a high-voltage drama of last week when ZEE's largest shareholders Invesco Oppenheimer Developing Markets Fund and OFI Global China Fund LLC were seeking Goenka's removal from the company's board. Separately, proxy advisory firms InGovern and Investor Advisory services raised concerns around corporate governance favouring the promoter family.

Chandra and Goenka have averted this risk, at least for the time being. As part of the transaction between ZEE and Sony, Goenka will continue to be the MD and CEO of the merged entity even as SPNI would hold a majority stake at 52.93% and would appoint the majority of the Board of Directors. ZEE will own the remaining 47.07%.

According to the term sheet, ZEE's promoter family will hold 4% share which can be increased to 20%. The promoters of SPNI will also provide an incremental stake of around 2.1% (worth Rs 1,075 crore) to the ZEEL promoters in the merged company. The merger terms also include non-compete arrangement between the promoters of Zee and Sony.

As part of the deal, Sony would invest growth capital so that SPNI has a cash balance of approximately $1.57 billion at closing. The term sheet provides an exclusive period of 90 days during which ZEE and SPNI will conduct mutual diligence and finalize definitive agreement(s). But some of the terms of the merger agreement would face both regulatory and shareholder hurdle.

"It may be pertinent to note that SEBI Takeover code does not permit differential treatment between the promoter and public shareholders," says Ravishu Shah - MD & Co-Head Valuation, RBSA Advisors.

SPNI to hold majority stake at 52.93%

As part of the transaction between ZEE and Sony, Punit Goenka will continue to be the MD and CEO of the merged entity even as SPNI would hold a majority stake at 52.93% and would appoint the majority of the Board of Directors. ZEE will own the remaining 47.07%

Covid hit poor & vulnerable more: Das

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India Governor Shaktikanta Das on Wednesday said that Covid-19 pandemic hit poor and vulnerable sections of the society more and for sustainable growth, restoring private consumption will be very crucial going forward.

"The lasting damage inflicted by the pandemic on these segments is of serious concern for inclusive growth. In the medium to long-run, both efficiency and equity will greatly matter for sustainable growth and macroeconomic performance," Das said.

He was addressing the 48th convention of All India Management Association.

"Our endeavour should be to ensure livable and sustainable growth in the post-pandemic future. Restoring the durability of private consumption, which has remained historically the mainstay of aggregate demand will be very crucial going forward," Das observed.

The RBI governor underlined the need for increased investment in healthcare, education, digital and physical infrastructure to ensure sustainable growth and generate employment opportunities.

"To achieve our objectives in all the areas ... we need a big push to infrastructure, particularly in areas of health, education, low carbon and digital economy in addition to transport and communication," Das said. "Income and job creation with digitalisation and innovation can bring about a new age of prosperity for a large number of people," he said, at the same time warning of the digital divide.

He added that the pandemic brought lots of structural changes in the economy, which has created both challenges for some sectors and opportunities for others.

"The shift to online has created new opportunities and challenges for employment-intensive sectors like travel, hotels, restaurants and recreation. Some of these changes are going to stay beyond the pandemic," said the RBI governor.

At the same time digitisation also provided new opportunities for technology drive sectors, the governor said.

"The Covid pandemic has provided a new impetus to technology-driven companies such as fintech, edtech and healthtech, which are likely to see increased funding activity in the coming years," said Das.

On the positive note, he added that India's financial system has transformed rapidly to support the growing needs of the economy. "While banks have been the primary channels of credit in the economy, recent trends suggest an increasing role of non-banking channels," Das said.

New e-commerce rules hit roadblock as dissent within ministries grows

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

The proposed amendments to the e-commerce rules, which were notified by the Ministry of Consumer Affairs, have hit a roadblock reportedly due to the concerns of "the ministry overriding jurisdictional powers" which was flagged by Niti Aayog and reservations by the finance ministry.

Sources privy to the development told this publication that Niti Aayog along with the finance ministry and corporate affairs ministry has opposed several amendments as excessive which may hurt the business as well as job creation opportunities by the e-tailers.

The amendments were made public by the ministry of consumer affairs on June 21, under which it sought the suggestions from the key stakeholders. The deadline was extended to July 6 after the industry leaders urged for the review of the new rules.

The e-commerce industry had unanimously objected to various new measures proposed after meeting with the government representatives, which according to it, will hurt its business operations and may cause serious damage to the employee generation objectives. Niti Aayog is said to have sided with the e-tailers. The finance and corporate ministries have also reportedly put forth their reservations against several clauses, including abuse of dominant position by the leading players (which already comes under the ambit of competition laws), banning of flash sales as well as cross-selling of products on the marketplaces.

CAIT General Secretary Praveen Khandelwal told TNIE that the Niti Aayog should also take into cognisance the issues raised by the small retailers. "Niti Aayog representatives haven't met us regarding our contentions with the growing power of e-commerce companies," he added.

NEW FORECAST

ADB revises down India's economic growth to 10% for FY22

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Asian Development Bank on Wednesday revised down India's economic growth forecast to 10%, from the earlier 11% for this fiscal, on account of adverse impact of the second wave of the Civid-19.

The growth forecast for India in fiscal year 2021 was revised down, as the spike in Covid-19 cases during May dented the recovery, the Asian Development Bank (ADB) said in its latest economic outlook.

The forecast, however, is still higher than the World Bank's latest projection which says India's economy is expected to grow at 8.3% for fiscal year 2021-22.

ADB added, "The outbreak, however, dissipated faster than anticipated, resulting in several states easing lockdown measures and returning to more normal travel patterns.

"The economy is expected to rebound strongly in the remaining three quarters of FY21, and grow by 10% in the full fiscal year before moderating to 7.5% in FY22," Asian Development Outlook Update (ADOU) 2021 said. In its Asian Development Outlook forecast in April this year, the funding agency had projected India to grow at 11% in the current fiscal.

"Because consumption will recover only gradually, government spending and exports will contribute more to FY2021's growth than they did in the previous fiscal year," it said about India.

NHAI EYES FAIR DEALS IN MONETISATION

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THOUGH the National Highway Authority of India (NHAI) is planning to monetise at least 5,000-6,000 km of roads every year for the next four years under the National Monetization Pipeline (NMP), it is not ready to set a target for itself as yet so that it becomes desperate to give away public asset to the private sector.

"I am looking for a reasonable deal, where the commuter is not inconvenienced and the standard of the road is also maintained properly. We need to strike the balance between the two," says Giridhar Aramane, Secretary & Chairman, NHAI, in an interaction with The New Indian Express.

By reasonable deal, Aramane means that the toll rate should not be excessively high, there should not be any delay at the toll and the ride quality must also be superior.

"The experience of the commuter must be pleasant and he must have a smooth ride. He must be able to travel at an optimum speed of 80-100 kmph on a national highway, and he must be provided with certain basic facilities like restaurants, resting places, toilets, petrol pump, recharging for EVs, etc," he says.

According to Aramane, NHAI or any other concessioner gets around ₹60-80 lakh by tolling each km of a 4-lane road. Under the NMP, the central government plans to raise ₹6 lakh crore by monetising public assets like roads and ports. The government has set a target of realising ₹1.6 lakh crore by monetising close to 27,000 km roads in next four years.

The monetisation in the road sector will be through toll-operate-transfer (ToT) and Infrastructure Investment Trusts (InvIT) models. The NHAI has already been monetising some of its road assets through the ToT since 2016. Aramane says the NHAI has already collected ₹17,000 crore through ToT model.

"Under NMP, we will do smaller bundles — 150-200 km bundles — so that there will be more players, bids will be more competitive and realization for the government will be reasonable," he says.

On its first InvIT, aimed at raising ₹5,100 cr from five toll roads, Aramane said the NHAI has filed the documents with the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) and by mid-October, the InvIT would be up for subscription.

India's crude oil production falls 2.3% in August

NEW DELHI: India's crude oil production fell 2.3% in August but natural gas output rose by more than a fifth on the back of output from KG-D6 fields of Reliance-BP, government data released on Wednesday showed. Crude oil production dropped to 2.51 million tonnes in August as output from fields operated by state-owned Oil and Natural Gas Corp (ONGC) dipped. India is 85% dependent on imports to meet its oil needs.

Goyal launches single window for investors

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a move to enhance ease of doing business, the Union Minister of Commerce and Industry, Piyush Goyal, launched soft version of National Single Window System (NSWS) for investors and businesses on Wednesday.

"NSWS will usher in Azadi (independence) from the legacy of running to government offices for approvals and registrations," Goyal said, adding that this will benefit a large number of foreign and Indian investors, businesses and start-ups.

National Single Window System is a digital platform that aims at allowing investors to apply for various pre-operation approvals required for commencing a business in the country. The system aims to make the business registration process easier, allowing the beneficiary to get significant approvals online, without having to run to the government offices, and can avail services with just a click.

"We don't want our new start-ups to face the issues that businesses used to face earlier. We want India to become the most preferred investment destination," Goyal said.

The government has sent the request to around 18 central departments to use the portal, and nine states have already agreed to the use of the website. Another 14 central departments and five states will be added by December 21.

"This was a voluntary exercise. No one was pressured. We need not wait till December and keep onboarding. It's a soft launch. We will learn as we go along. This is a test phase. We didn't rush into the finalisation of the modules," Goyal said.

Chennai's Freshworks first SaaS start-up in India to list on Nasdaq

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

FILM legend Rajnikanth's fan (as he likes to call himself) and the co-founder and CEO of Girish Mathrubootham has led the India's first Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) company to list on the Nasdaq at a nearly $10.13 billion valuation, spearheading the rise of enterprise software businesses which have boomed since the pandemic.

The company which had a humble beginning from a 700 sqft warehouse in Chennai shifted to California a few years later and has attracted investments and clients from worldwide.

Freshworks on Wednesday announced that it will be raising $1.03 billion, higher than earlier estimates of $912 million by selling 28.5 million shares priced at $36 per share. The jump in the valuation of Freshworks is almost 3x increase from the last financing round.

"Today is a dream come true for me — from humble beginnings in #Trichy to ringing the bell at @Nasdaq for the FreshWorks IPO. Thank you to our employees, customers, partners, and investors for believing in this dream. #Freshworks #IPO #NASDAQ ," Mathrubootham said in a tweet.

The California-based firm had earlier informed the US Securities and Exchanges Commission in a filing on Monday that it is planning to issue 28.5 million shares in the price range of $28-$32, aggregating to a total raise between $798-912 million. The Freshworks shares will trade on Nasdaq under the symbol "FRSH" and is expected to be oversubscribed in line with the listings of the new-age companies which have been well received at the stock exchanges.

Today is a dream come true for me — from humble beginnings in #Trichy to ringing the bell at @Nasdaq for the FreshWorks IPO. Thank you to our employees...

Mathrubootham, CEO, Freshworks

Freshworks, which counts the likes of Salesforce, Oracle and home-grown firm Zoho as its rivals, has clinched a majority of its clients from the US leveraging the digital transformation undertaken by the enterprises during the pandemic. The company said in its prospectus that its last twelve months revenue(LTM) was $308 million with a strong 49% growth.

Shareholders vote against Rai in IDFC board

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

SHAREHOLDERS of IDFC have voted against the resolution to appoint former Comptroller and Auditor General Vinod Rai as non-independent, non-executive director, according to an exchange filing by the company.

As many as 62.3% shareholders voted against the resolution to appoint Rai as the director till 22 May 2023. As the resolution failed to receive the requisite majority, it could not be passed. Over 57 crore votes were against and over 34 crore votes were in favour of Rai's appointment. The voting was done during the 24th Annual General Meeting (AGM) of the company on Wednesday.

Vinod Rai was earlier the former chairman of the National Banking Bureau, an autonomous body of the government of India.

Of the six resolutions put to voting, barring the one related to appointment of Rai, all others were passed. Those include appointment of statutory auditors, and two independent directors.

Hero Electric eyes output up to 5 lakh by Mar '22

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HERO Electric, India's largest electric two-wheeler maker, is expanding capacity of its production facility in Ludhiana (Punjab) to over 5 lakh units by March 2022 as it aims to maintain its leadership position amidst growing competition.

Sohinder Gill, CEO, Hero Electric, said, "We are witnessing huge walk-ins at our dealerships and are working overtime to avoid stock-out situations and long waiting lists... We are therefore redrawing our business plans to retain our leadership position that we have held all these years."

Hero Electric's aggressive expansion plans come on the back of blockbuster sales achieved by newcomer Ola Electric. Last week, Ola had announced that it clocked ₹1,100 crore in combined sales in 48 hours when the purchase window for its e-scooters was open between September 15-17. While Ola is beginning its manufacturing facility with an initial capacity of 1 million units, other players such as Ather, TVS and Bajaj Auto are also expanding their presence.

Industry experts believe that competition in this space is expected to become more severe in coming days as new age players with strong financial backing are eyeing to pip legacy players. According to JMK Research, domestic EV sales in July 2021 witnessed a month-over-month jump of 134.8%, at 26,127 units, clocking the highest registrations in a month so far in 2021. The overall high-speed electric two-wheeler (HS-E2W) sales in the country in July 2021 stood at 13,345 units, witnessing a 229% month-over-month jump.

"The last few months have set the tone for the next few years to come... We are hence ramping up our production facilities to manufacture over 5 lakh vehicles and will go on to expand to add capacities to make over 1 million vehicles every year to meet the growing demand," said Naveen Munjal, MD, Hero Electric.

MCC to use gender-neutral term 'batter' instead of 'batsman'

Marylebone Cricket Club (MCC) on Wednesday announced that the gender-neutral term "batter" will replace "batsman" with immediate effect, in a bid to reinforce cricket's status as an inclusive game. The amendments to the laws were approved by the MCC Committee, following initial discussion by the Club's specialist Laws Sub-committee.

Left in the dark, match officials give up all hopes on compensation

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

OVER 300 umpires and match referees and as many video-analysts and scorers are losing hope of getting any compensation package for the curtailed 2020-21 domestic season. While the BCCI announced a pay hike and a compensation package for the domestic cricketers, the body has remained tight-lipped about match officials even as the next season is around the corner.

It is reliably learnt that the issue came up for discussion during the Apex Council meeting, but it was kept aside as the BCCI believes several of them are employed with private firms and the curtailed domestic season hasn't affected them. While it is true that some are still employed in few organisations, many of them had quit in 2018 and 2019. Several of them resigned from full-time jobs as the number of domestic matches, across all age-groups, exceeded 2,000. With an average 40 match-days assigned in a season where majority of the umpires earned ₹30,000 per match day, they received at least ₹12,00,000 a season.

In the 2020/21 season, with the BCCI not able to hold most of the tournaments, only few got to officiate and even then they ended up earning only around ₹2.5 lakhs. While a full-fledged season awaits them, there are indications that the BCCI will allot every umpire an average of 30-35 matches so that match days are evenly-distributed.

"If we give them a pay-hike, Grade A umpires will fall in the same pay bracket as players who have played 21-40 matches. These things need to be addressed," a BCCI official said.

The BCCI officials reckon some of the umpires (20 in Grade A) were getting more pay than the domestic players and the story remains the same even after the pay hike. It is understood that few of the umpires have taken it up with their respective state units and the issue will be raised during the annual general meeting.

Most of the umpires and match officials happen to represent Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Mumbai cricket associations and there are concerns that not all members will be unified when it comes to compensation package.

"Some of them even received ₹18 lakh a season, but that may not happen this time because there are six groups. It is true that some state associations have brought the matter to our attention, we need to find a formula. If need be, they can compensate as well. Andhra cricket association, for instance, paid few during the pandemic," the official added.

All-round effort from bowlers helps Delhi Capitals beat Sunrisers Hyderabad

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

IT was a woeful Wednesday for Sunrisers Hyderabad. Right before they resumed their IPL journey, the team was jolted by the shock news of their left-arm pacer T Natarajan testing Covid-19 positive despite being in a bio-secure bubble. Close contact Vijay Shankar also had to isolate and despite apprehensions, the match was scheduled to go ahead with the squad as a whole not in the best of shape mentally. And when the lowest-ranked team in the competition came on to bat, their batters carried on from where they left of in the first phase as they succumbed to 134/9 in their 20 overs, which Delhi batsmen chased without breaking a sweat.

Delhi Capitals were one of the best teams in the first phase, and with the return of Shreyas Iyer, the team management chose to opt for last-season's successful pace pair of Kagiso Rabada and Anrich Nortje. And the move paid instant dividends with Nortje picking up David Warner (0) in the very first over. The Aussie's below-par tournament continued and without Jonny Bairstow, the team is looking shaky up top.

Skipper Kane Williamson (18) tried to steady the ship with Wriddhiman Saha (18) but Rabada had other ideas as he beat the wicketkeeper for pace with Saha mistiming a pull to Shikhar Dhawan at midwicket. The Kiwi, usually a cool head under pressure, ahd an uncharacteristic rush of blood as he holed out to Shimron Hetmyer at long-off off the bowling of Axar Patel. This was despite receiving two leases of life after Delhi skipper Rishabh Pant and Prithvi Shaw dropped him in successive overs.

Manish Pandey (18) followed suit straight after and Kedar Jadhav (3) too didn't fare any better. With more than half the team gone, Abdul Samad (28 off 21, 2x4s, 1x6) tried his best to help his side set up some sort of a competitive total and along with Rashid Khan (22 off 19 balls), they took the attack to the Delhi bowlers but ultimately departed in search of quick runs.

Rabada was the pick of the bowlers for DC with figures of 3 for 37, while Anrich Nortje (2/12) and Patel (2/32) picked up two wickets apiece.

With an easy target in sight, the Delhi franchise came out and played simple cricket with the exception of Shaw who tried to force the issue too early in the innings. Shikhar Dhawan, left out of the Indian T20 World Cup team, hit 42 (37) and ensured there was no further jitters.

Brief scores: Sunrisers Hyderabad 134/9 in 20 ovs (Rabada 3-37) lost to Delhi Capitals 139/2 in 17.5 ovs (Shreyas 47 n.o.)

IPL confident despite Covid-19 scare

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

ON a day when Sunrisers Hyderabad's T Natarajan tested positive for Covid-19, their Indian Premier League (IPL) match against Delhi Capitals went ahead in Dubai. The move is bold but the IPL Governing Council is sounding fairly confident that with all necessary protocols in place, there is no need to press the panic button. It's to be noted that the board's Covid-19 based quarantine norms is in line with Dubai Health Authorities (DHA).

Unlike in May when the organisers and the BCCI were forced to reschedule a match — before ultimately calling it off — after two players tested positive on the morning of a match (Kolkata and Bangalore), Wednesday's match took place as schedule. As soon as Natarajan's test results came back positive, the organisers were on the toes, ensuring the entire Hyderabad contingent underwent RT-PCR tests at 5 in the morning. Although there isn't a GPS mechanism in place like in 2020, when the IPL was held in the UAE, the BCCI has put in place bubble-integrity managers for each team. They monitor movements of players round the clock and are allowed to review CCTV footages for the purposes of contact tracing. This is how they were able to identify and isolate all of Natarajan's close contacts.

According to a BCCI statement, all-rounder Vijay Shankar and net bowler G Periyaswamy are among those under isolation. The others happen to be support staffers Vijay Kumar (team manager), Shyam Sundar J (physiotherapist), Anjana Vannan (doctor) and Tushar Khedkar (logistics manager). As per the IPL health protocols, they are undergoing isolation at a separate wing of the hotel and will be allowed to re-enter the bubble after six days, provided they test negative in the tests scheduled on Days 2,4 and 6.

Although Natarajan attended Tuesday's training session, the BCCI and the Governing Council gave the greenlight for the match only because the rest of Hyderabad contingent tested negative. While a Covid-positive case inside the bio-bubble does create a scare, the BCCI believes they have put all the mechanism in place and there is no possibility of the virus breaching the bubble from the outside.

"During the India leg, it was possible for the outsiders to come in contact with the players or use the common areas in the hotel. In Dubai and Abu Dhabi, teams are kept in a separate wing and public have no access to bio-secure area. All the loose ends are covered. A thorough check was done to identify if there were any breaches," an IPL official tracking the developments said.

While all the teams took a charter flight to the UAE before undergoing mandatory quarantine, Natarajan had taken a commercial airline, which the BCCI suspects could have made him contract the virus.

KOLKATA KNIGHT RIDERS vs MUMBAI INDIANS

KKR FACE MIGHTY MI

Separated by two points and as many places in the table, Kolkata Knight Riders will know a win over Mumbai Indians will put them in the top half of the table. A few talking points...

Rohit & Hardik's fitness

Both Rohit Sharma and Hardik Pandya sat out the opener and the effect was felt at multiple times. Without their captain, the five-time champions seemed a bit lost even if deputy, Kieron Pollard, is an able skipper in his own right. If the duo misses out again, onus will fall on the West Indian to marshall the troops.

Kolkata's top order

Kolkata got into the bad habit of either losing their top order for nothing or seeing their top order play out too many balls for nothing scores. Against Bangalore, both Shubman Gill and Venkatesh Iyer scored at over 140. If the outfit is to continue on this upward trajectory, they need this to become a pattern and not a one-off.

Afghanistan open to Pak series

AFP @ Karachi

NEWLY APPOINTED Afghanistan cricket chairman Azizullah Fazli said Wednesday he would visit neighbouring Pakistan later this week to invite the side for a one-day series.

The war-torn nation has steadily risen in international cricket over the past few years, but there have been calls for a boycott of the men's team after the hardline Taliban's takeover last month. The change of government has called into question the future of Afghanistan's participation in Test matches, as under International Cricket Council regulations, nations must also have an active women's team. The Taliban are yet to announce a policy on women playing sport, but a senior official has said it would be "not necessary". Avoiding commenting on the latest developments, Fazli said he planned to visit other regional cricketing powers.

"I am taking a tour of Pakistan from September 25 and then will go to India, Bangladesh and the United Arab Emirates to meet officials of cricket boards," he said.

Fazli said he would meet new Pakistan Cricket Board chairman Ramiz Raja, "and offer to host Pakistan for the series which we were due to play in Sri Lanka in September".

Thapa upbeat after national success

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

AT 27 years, he is already a veteran. Shiva Thapa is a name that has been part of Indian senior boxing team for more than a decade. In 2012 London Olympics, he had become the youngest Indian boxer to qualify. With matured head and a strong will to succeed, Thapa embarked on this magical journey in his loved sport. There was a lot of hope.

A World Championships medal in 2015 raised expectations. When he entered the ring in Rio during the 2016 Olympics against a former champion, Thapa never thought he would lose. "I was so confident that there was no question of thinking what if I lost the match," he recollected those thoughts. Since then, however, Thapa's form plummeted until recently. "Sometimes life makes you wait," were Thapa's profound words.

On Tuesday when he won the national title, his fourth, he was relieved. "It was a tough competition because World championships quota was at stake so everyone gave their best. So it was fulfilling to win the title," the Assam boxer, who got the better of Services' Dalveer Singh Tomar in the 63.5kg final, said.

Sports, like life, has its share of vicissitudes, sometimes it could be crushing, but at times rewarding. For Thapa, from being a young promising pugilist to obscurity and back has been quite a fascinating ride. "Nothing in life is futile," said Thapa, who is currently in Guwahati. He turned philosophical and said all these ups and downs has taught him a great deal. "For me, every experience teaches you something. Whether it is good or bad. When I had a setback in my career, it taught me to work hard, learn about self belief and patience. When I got the opportunity to go to Asian Championships earlier this year, I thought it was a chance to prove myself. Sometimes, you need that break. When I won the medal, I did not even realise that it was fifth Asian Championships medal. I was not thinking in terms of medal. I just wanted to perform and perform well. Coming out of setbacks defines you."

For Thapa, the biggest takeaway in his career had been these myriad experiences. "The setback helped me understand myself and motivate myself to perform better and elevate my game. Psychologically, I am stronger." Thapa felt the two medals missing from his closets are the Asian Games and Olympics. "I am working towards that," he said. "The Asian and Commonwealth Games next year and the Olympics in 2024, that's my target."

When he was in London, he had just graduated to the senior level. "When I participated in 2012, I knew I was the youngest boxer. But this time around, whether Asian Games or Olympics, I would be not content to just participate but win medals. 2024 Paris Olympics would be my third," Thapa, who had competed in 56kg category then, said. However, his 'setback' in his career he believed had coincided with the resurgence of boxing in India. There were youngsters challenging the seniors, even now the junior boxers can take on the seniors. "The pool of boxers have increased and the sport is healthy right now. This year Lovlina Borgohain's medal will add to that craze for the sport. It is good for the sport."

As he gears up for the World Championships, he feels this time India should do well. "We have a good mix of seniors and juniors and we have a month in hand to practice. I'm sure we will do well."

POLLUTION

NEW DELHI: The World Health Organisation on Wednesday released revised Air Quality Guidelines, the first update since 2005, providing clear evidence of the damage air pollution inflicts on human health, at even lower concentrations than previously understood.

With 100 per cent of the South Asian population living in areas that exceed the thresholds and limits for key air pollutants, the guidelines recommend new air quality levels to protect the health of populations. Delhi having annual mean PM 2.5 level 16 times higher than the permissible limits tops the list of the world's 100 most populous cities.

Since WHO's last 2005 global update, there has been a marked increase of evidence that shows how air pollution affects different aspects of health. For that reason, and after a systematic review of the accumulated evidence, WHO has adjusted almost all the Air Quality Guidelines levels downwards, warning that exceeding the new air quality guideline levels is associated with significant risks to health

It recommends air quality levels for 6 pollutants, where evidence has advanced the most on health effects from exposure.

As per the new WHO norms, majority of the Indian cities have recorded key pollutant levels much higher than the permissible limits. According to an analysis by Greenpeace India, among 100 global cities, Delhi's annual PM2.5 trends in 2020 was 16.8 times more than WHO's revised air quality guidelines of 5 ug/m3, while Mumbai's was 8.2 fold.

Prof S N Tripathi, Professor, Indian Institute of Technology Kanpur & Steering Committee Member, National Clean Air Programme, India said: "There are no two ways about the need for revising India's air quality standards to make them more stringent. Even at the current relaxed standard of 40 ug/m3 for annual PM2.5 averages in India vs WHO's 2005 annual limit of 10 ug/m3, most Indian cities failed to meet even those levels. In parallel, we have to strengthen our health data and revise the National Clean Air Programme accordingly."

EXFILE • ENVIRONMENT
BREAKING DOWN THE GLOBAL PLASTIC WASTE
It is a common perception that most of the world's plastic pollution comes from just a few major rivers in Asia. However, a group of scientists from the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation in Australia dig deeper into the nuances of the plastic menace clogging ecosystems worldwide. We take a look
ABOUT THE STUDY
Scientists from the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation (CSIRO) worked with PADI AWARE, a not-for-profit organisation that specialises in marine environments to analyse data collected by thousands of citizen scientists from across the world. More than 22,000 land clean-ups and 7,290 seafloor clean-ups in over 100 countries were analysed
WHAT THE NEW STUDY HAS FOUND
The analysis points to diverse littering patterns that were not limited to single countries or rivers, rather existed in all continents except Antarctica
The majority of the litter was convenient, single-use items with single-use plastics topping the list. Wastes included cigarette butts, fishing line, food wrappers, and plastic bottles & bags
Places with more built infrastructure and less wealth tend to have more litter. Same was the case with areas that had bright lightings at night (an indicator of urban density)

CITY WASTE
Cities and urban areas were found to be the hotspots of single-use plastic items such as plastic bags, food wrappers, drink bottles, take-away containers, straws, plastic cutlery and lids
WEALTHIER NATIONS
More cigarette butts and fishing gear were trademarks for richer countries where recreational fishing is popular. There was also a regional pattern for cigarette butts which was common in Southern Europe and North Africa. Noted areas for waste fishing line were the UK, Australia and the US
GEOGRAPHICAL IMPACT
More litter was associated with land-locked lakes or seas and partially enclosed bays such as Bay of Bengal, South China and Philippine seas
High local waste generation coupled with partial containment of the water bodies were quoted as reasons
Plastic bottle waste was more common in tropical countries such as Costa Rica and Jamaica
WEAKER WASTE MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS
Plastic food wrappers were more common in areas that had a poor waste management system like the island nations of Southeast Asia namely Indonesia and the Philippines

THE STUDY SUGGESTS
It is best to control the waste before it reaches the sea. However, the study says that there is no one-size-fits-all approach to tackle this diverse problem. Locally implemented strategies to reduce dependence on plastic, change behavioural patterns and create recycling systems were suggested as the way forward

Covid-like viruses found in Laos bats

HEALTH

PARIS: Scientists have discovered another clue to the origins of the virus that causes Covid-19, with bats living in caves in Laos found to be carrying a similar pathogen that experts suggest could potentially infect humans directly.

The virus has killed millions since it emerged in China in late 2019, and controversy continues to swirl around where it came from.

Some experts say it is animal-driven but others have pointed to the possibility the pathogen leaked from a lab.

Researchers from France's Pasteur Institute and the National University of Laos said their findings showed that viruses genetically close to the SARS-CoV-2 "exist in nature" among bat species in the limestone caves of northern Laos, which neighbours China.

Of the viruses they identified among the hundreds of bats tested in Vientiane Province, three were found to closely resemble the virus that causes Covid-19, particularly in the mechanism for latching on to human cells.

"The idea was to try to identify the origin of this pandemic," Marc Eloit, who leads the Pasteur Institute's pathogen discovery laboratory, told AFP. Eloit, whose team analysed the samples, said there were still key differences between the viruses found and SARS-CoV-2.

But he said the work was "a major step forward" in identifying the pandemic's origin, confirming the theory that the coronavirus that has spread across the world could have started with living bats.

The authors, which has been submitted to Nature for peer review, warned that their findings suggest the new viruses "seem to have the same potential for infecting humans as early strains of SARS-CoV-2".

"People working in caves, such as guano collectors, or certain ascetic religious communities who spend time in or very close to caves, as well as tourists who visit the caves, are particularly at risk of being exposed," the authors said.

Experts sent to China by the WHO concluded that it was most likely that the virus jumped from bats to humans via an intermediate animal. A competing hypothesis that the virus leaked from a lab like the specialised virology laboratory in Wuhan was deemed "extremely unlikely", although it has yet to be ruled out.

Tedros only person in race for WHO chief?

HEALTH

BERLIN: Germany said Wednesday it was nominating World Health Organization chief Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus for a new term, with diplomatic sources saying he appeared to be the sole candidate.

With Germany's nomination secured, the 56-year-old former Ethiopian health and foreign minister appeared to be the only person in the race a day before the deadline for submissions on Thursday.

Tedros was elected as the head of WHO in 2017 and became the first African to take the helm of the UN health agency. He has not yet confirmed that he is a candidate for a second five-year term, but a number of diplomatic sources said he would stand. When asked by AFP if he would run, Tedros declined to answer.

Tedros is relatively popular because of his role in steering the WHO's efforts to coordinate the pandemic response.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Beijing ends coal funding

CLIMATE

China will stop funding coal projects overseas, President Xi Jinping announced late on Tuesday, all but ending the flow of public aid for the dirty energy contributing to the climate crisis. Xi made his announcement at the UN General Assembly where US President Joe Biden, seeking to show leadership in a growing competition with China, promised to double Washington's contribution to countries hardest hit by climate change. China is still investing in coal, reducing the impact of Xi's commitment, but it is by far the largest funder of coal projects in developing countries such as Indonesia, Vietnam and Bangladesh as it goes on a infrastructure-building blitz . Xi vowed to speed efforts for China to go carbon neutral by 2060.

Floating power plants get nod

POLLUTION

South Africa's energy regulator has approved generating licenses for three controversial floating power plants, stoking environmental concerns as Africa's most industrialised nation grapples with electricity shortages. Turkey-based Karpowership, one of the world's largest floating power plant operators, will supplement South Africa's fragile electricity supply with gas-to-power projects at three ports. Environmental groups have raised concern about the Karpowership plants, which require fuel to convert LNG into electricity. Opponents note the project will generate several million tonnes of carbon dioxide in a country that is already the world's 12th-largest greenhouse gas emitter.

NO MEDICINAL VALUE

Rare rhino horns go up in flames in anti-poaching campaign

CONSERVATION

BOKAKHAT: Assam on Wednesday consigned to flames 2,479 rhino horns, world's largest stockpile destroyed in a single day, to bust a myth that the horns have miraculous medicinal properties.

The move by CM Himanta Biswa Sarma is part of an effort to curb poaching of the endangered one-horned Indian rhinoceros.

"We want to give a strong message to the world that the rhino alive with the horn on its head is precious to us, and not a dead animal with its pride removed by poachers or those kept in the government treasuries", the CM said.

The ritualistic burning of the rhino horns was done publicly at Bokakhat on the occasion of World Rhino Day in the presence of the Chief minister, some of his cabinet colleagues including Forest and Environment Minister Parimal Suklabaidya and local AGP MLA and Agriculture Minister Atul Bora, senior forest department officials and conservationists in a first of its kind exercise in the country.

Rhino horns are burned near Kaziranga National Park, Assam, on Wednesday | AFP

"A section of people have questioned us why we are burning the horns when it can be sold and the government could earn revenue. ... I ask them is it right to sell kidneys when people are ready to pay huge amounts for them," he asked. The CM argued that since the horns have no proven medicinal values, allowing them to be sold was tantamount to cheating people and encouraging poaching.

There are about 2,600 rhinos in Assam's Kaziranga, Manas, Orang National Parks and Pobitora wildlife sanctuaries.

Record release of wildfire CO_2

DATA

Wildfires in Siberia, North America and around the Mediterranean caused record levels of planet-warming CO2 emissions this summer, the EU's Earth monitoring service said Tuesday. Globally, forests going up in flames emitted more than 2.5 billion tonnes of CO2 — equivalent to India's annual emissions from all sources — in July and August alone, the Copernicus Atmosphere Monitoring Service (CAMS) reported. More than half of CO2 emissions from wildfires in July came from North America and Siberia. Heatwaves, drought conditions, and reduced soil moisture amplified by global warming have contributed to unprecedented fires in three continents. Even the Arctic Circle was on fire, releasing some 66 million tonnes of CO2 from June through August.

MYSURU

LAND OF HIGHER LEARNING

Considerable progress has been made in Karnataka with the establishment of more than twenty universities and a large number of undergraduate colleges. More importantly, its first university, University of Mysore, completed 100 years in 2016.

Mysore city has become an educational hub because of good weather and cheaper cost of living. A large number of students from different parts of India and a few hundreds of students from foreign countries live and study here. According to some studies, Mysore ranks among the top five Indian cities that attracts foreign students. Students from over 50 countries study here for undergraduate and postgraduate courses. Around 1,000 students arrive in Mysore every year for higher studies. Most of the foreign students are from Iran, Afganisthan, China, Maldives and different parts of Africa.

UNIVERSITY OF MYSORE

The University of Mysore is a public state university founded during the reign of Krishnaraja Wodeyar IV, the Maharaja of Mysore. It opened on 27 July 1916. Its first chancellor was the Maharaja of Mysore; the first Vice-Chancellor was H. V. Nanjundaiah.

The university became the first outside the British administration in India, the sixth in India as a whole, and the first in Karnataka.

It is a state university of the affiliating type, and became autonomous on 3 March 1956, when it gained recognition from the University Grants Commission.

The main campus features an amphitheater, an auditorium, a swimming pool, and hostel accommodations for men and women.

KARNATAKA STATE OPEN UNIVERSITY (KSOU)

Karnataka State Open University (KSOU), Mysuru, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary (Silver Jubilee) this year, is a State Public University established by the act of State Legislature in 1992, and was brought into force on 1st June 1996. Ever since its establishment, KSOU has been pro-actively engaged in fulfilling the national objectives of higher education i.e., to achieve access, equity, quality, affordability and accountability.

A Pioneer and Premier Centre of Higher Education under Open and Distance Learning (ODL) system, KSOU was carved out of illustrious University of Mysore in 1996.

Before becoming the university, KSOU was an Institute of Correspondence Courses and Continuing Education (ICC&CE) of the University of Mysore which was established in 1969.

NEP: For An Equitable & Vibrant Society

National Education Policy 2020 is the first education policy of the 21st century and aims to address the many growing developmental imperatives of our country. This Policy proposes the revision and revamping of all aspects of the education structure, including its regulation and governance, to create a new system that is aligned with the aspirational goals of 21st century education, including SDG4, while building upon India's traditions and value systems.

The Policy lays particular emphasis on the development of the creative potential of each individual.

It is based on the principle that education must develop not only cognitive capacities—both the 'foundational capacities 'of literacy and numeracy and 'higher-order' cognitive capacities, such as critical thinking and problem solving – but also social, ethical, and emotional capacities and dispositions.

HIGHER EDUCATION

INCREASING GER

The NEP aims to increase the GER in higher education to 50% by 2035 (GER was 26.3% in 2018). Institutions will have the option to run open distance learning and online programmes to improve access to higher education, which will improve GER in the country.

RESTRUCTURING OF INSTITUTIONS

All higher education institutions (HEIs) will be restructured into three categories:

- Research universities focusing equally on research and teaching
- Teaching universities focusing primarily on teaching
- Degree granting colleges primarily focused on undergraduate teaching.

All such institutions will gradually move towards full autonomy - academic, administrative, and financial. All HEIs should eventually be transformed into large multidisciplinary universities and colleges with 3,000 or more students. By 2030, there should be one multidisciplinary HEI in, or near every district.

Karnataka government is aiming at reforms that will make all higher education institutions in the state autonomous in the next 15 years. The government will prepare a model framework as per NEP guidelines, and the governing councils of the institutions will have the freedom to play a crucial role in its implementation. The very core of NEP lies in its approach towards decentralization. It wants to take decentralization up to the institution level. The University of Mysore, which was the first University to be set up in Karnataka, should play an important role in the implementation of NEP.

DELHI PUBLIC SCHOOL, MYSURU

REDEFINING HOLISTIC EDUCATION

DPS Mysore, a member of the K.K. Educational Institutes and promoted by K.K. Educational and Charitable Trust, Bengaluru, is spread over 8 acres in a pollution free zone away from the city , in Bugathalli borough of Mysuru. DPS Mysore is a spacious, steel-bodied modern architectural structure built of hollow concrete block, which facilitates cooling and controls temperature. The school is affiliated to the Central Board of Secondary Education, New Delhi. The school offers CBSE curriculum from the Kindergarten level to all the way through Primary, Secondary and Senior Secondary. The school has also adhered to all safety measures defined by various agencies. Fire systems are installed at all key points. Multiple CCTV cameras are installed at various points inside the school premises to ensure safety and security of children.

A VISIONARY SCHOOL

DPS is committed towards fulfilling its vision of educating, empowering and enlightening young minds. It strives to create a culture that celebrates diversity and inclusion in all of its facets, thereby living up to its motto - 'Service before self'. Through a continuous and Comprehensive Evaluation System (CCE), it caters to the holistic development of children by bringing together sports, fine arts, yoga, environmental awareness, values and attitudes, life skills and technology, thereby creating an environment that is conducive for learning. To teach the students 'how to think' and not 'what to think' has been central to DPS Mysore's style of pedagogy.

ACHIEVEMENTS

With extraordinary track record of top notch results from the graduating batches of classes X and XII, year after year - DPS Mysore is forging ahead with full-force. The school has given cent percent results with its students making it to the 0.01% of the nation as well. DPS Mysore has equally carved for itself a niche even in the extra-curricular and co-curricular space. Students from DPSM have also represented the State and the nation in various sporting events, i.e. ice skating, roller skating, kickboxing, swimming et al, and brought many laurels to the school. Additionally, students have also won medals and brought acclaim in the inter-school competitions and various olympiads. Furthermore, the school also hosted the CBSE cluster meets in Basketball and Football - the first of their kind in the whole of Mysore.

K. Rahman Khan and Aqeeb Khan

OVERCOMING CHALLENGES

DPSM believes in strengthening its metaphorical muscle of resilience. To see an opportunity behind every challenge has been the very core to its functioning. Given the outbreak of pandemic last year, the school warmed up to it with unmatched strength. Teachers quickly adapted themselves to the online methods of teaching and ensured that there were zero learning gaps. With empathy as its backdrop, DPSM truly emerged a s a winner in striking a balance among progressive education and moral uprightness.

THE MENTORS

KKECT is guided by its chairman, K. Rahman Khan who served the country as Member of Parliament, Deputy Chairman, Rajya Sabha. A true statesman with a visionary zeal, he is also an Educationist and Chartered Accountant by profession. As a futurist, he is an ardent champion of allround inclusive development and growth of students of all ages.

Another inspiring mentor is Aqeeb Khan, a dedicated and passionate professional, who has been brought up with educationalists and change makers since childhood, and who has dedicated his life to bringing about dynamism in the current education system.

A graduate from SP Jain Mumbai and having completed his MBA in the family-managed business, he is on a mission to carry forward his legacy and make sure to have a positive impact on the life of the young children.

'MAHARAJA' OF TECH DOMAIN

The second engineering college started by Maharaja Education Trust in 2016, Maharaja Instiute of Technology Thandavapura emphasises on quality and practical education. The college also provides variety of assistance and facilities to improve students with their studies.

ROBOTICS LAB

The college has associated with IIT Bombay and started 'e-Yantra ELSI Robotics Lab'. This lab has also provided students of the college with an opportunity to undergo free internship at IIT Bombay.

MOUs

The college has signed MoUs with many foreign universities, some of which are – Alborg University, Denmark; Huanghuai University, China and Yuan Ze University, China.

PLACEMENT

In the first year itself more than 180 students have availed placements. In the second year too, amidst Covid-19 difficulties more than 150 students have got placement. More than 80 companies visited the campus for recruitment in this academic year and students have got placed in prominent companies.

NIE INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY
FOCUS ON FUTURE-READY EDUCATION

NIE Institute of Technology was established in the year 2008 by NIE Foundation and offers degrees in Bachelor of Engineering in Computer Science & Engineering, Electronics & Communication Engineering, Electrical & Electronics Engineering, Information Science & Engineering and Mechanical Engineering apart from M.Sc by research and Ph.D. The institute is located in Hootagalli industrial area and has a sprawling 25 acres of lush green campus surrounded by prominent industries such as BEML, Infosys, L&T, etc.

NIEIT has well qualified, experienced & dedicated faculty members, which include 12 Ph.D holders, supported by experienced technical staff.

FACILITIES

Currently, there are around 1000 students enrolled. It has both indoor and outdoor sports facilities including a cricket field. It has two hostels for both boys and girls with all modern amenities within its campus.

PLACEMENT

The institution has a dedicated Training and Placement cell. The institution, in spite of the 2nd wave of the pandemic, has recorded a stellar 85 % placement of eligible candidates of outgoing batch 2020-21. While 84 companies provided placement opportunities last year, the tally increased to 105 this year, indicating the high acceptability of the institution's graduates among companies, especially in today's competitive world. The feat could be achieved by the incessant efforts put in by the faculty members and the Placement and Training cell.

Intense and focused training of students in terms of aptitude, verbal competence, resume writing, and technical training programmes specially tailored to meet company requirements like Mindtree, IBM, Infosys and TCS were also arranged.

The institution also facilitated internships, coaching for GATE exam, alumni interactions and regular career counselling.

Top notch companies like Amazon, Visa, PayPal, Fico, HPE, Thought Works, Informatica, Oracle, IBM, etc. visited the campus.

VIDYAVARDHAKA COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING
IDEAL LEARNING-TEACHING ENVIRONMENT

Established in 1997, Vidyavardhaka College of Engineering helps students find the right career by offering undergraduate degrees in six different fields of engineering, post graduate degrees in three different fields and nine Research Centres for pursuing PhD programs, with a total student population of over 3200. It is affiliated to Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU), Belgaum, approved by AICTE, New Delhi and recognized by the Govt. of Karnataka

Vidyavardhaka Sangha (VVS) stands as a synonym for quality education in the heritage city of Mysuru. VVS was established in 1949 by great visionaries namely Late Sahukar Channaiah and Late. K. Puttaswamy (Former Minister of Karnataka) to impart quality education to all sections of the society. At present, VVS is under the able guidance and leadership of Gundappa Gowda, President, Shivalingappa B, Vice President, P. Vishwanath, Secretary.

The college has excellent infrastructure coupled with qualified and passionate faculty team to provide a perfect learning ambience. The college is under the able leadership of Dr. B. Sadashive Gowda, PhD (IISc) as Principal, who has rich experience in industry and education fields both in India and abroad.

VISION
The vision is to be a leading institution in engineering and management education enabling individuals for significant contribution to the society.

PES COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING
TOWARDS SIX DECADES OF EXCELLENCE

The People's Education Trust was founded by a group of service-oriented individuals led by Late K V Shankara Gowda, Former Education Minister with the goal of improving education standards in Mandya district.

P.E.S. College of Engineering, Mandya was established in 1962 and will be completing 60 years of excellence in the year 2022.

The college is an autonomous institute under VTU which has 8 undergraduate B.E programs: Computer Science, Electronics and Communication, Mechanical, Civil, Information Science, Electrical and Electronics, Automobile Engineering, MCA, MBA, M.Tech in 4 areas and Ph.D.

"P.E.S. College of Engineering, Mandya is ranked 139th in All-India NIRF ranking 2021 under Engineering category conducted by Ministry of Education, Govt of India. Out of the nearly 10,000 engineering institutions in India, about 1100 institutions participated in NIRF rankings 2021, out of which only top 200 institutions are listed by Ministry of Education under NIRF rankings. Of these, 19 colleges are from Karnataka and our college stands in 11th place," says K S Vijay Anand, President, PET.

PESCE, Mandya has an excellent placement record. Around 80 companies visit PES campus every year and 450+ offers are made to our students on campus.

NIE MYSURU
AT THE FOREFRONT OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION

The National Institute of Engineering (NIE) is a grant-in-aid institution and approved by the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE), New Delhi. NIE got autonomous status from Visvesvaraya Technological University, Belagavi in 2007. It has been accredited by NAAC.

"I personally feel honoured to head this illustrious institution, which has provided highly competent and eminent engineers for the service of the country for more than seven decades," says Dr.M.S.Ranganath, President, NIE.

On the threshold of the Platinum jubilee year, we are eagerly looking forward to welcome another meritorious batch of young men and women to pursue their engineering education in our institution.

- Dr.M.S.Ranganath, President, NIE

NIE presently enjoys the status of academic autonomy under the Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU). "Our college offers 7 UG and 12 PG programmes and is also recognised by the university for doctoral programmes. NIE has always stood out for top quality faculty and best in class infrastructure. We have tied up with leading companies such as Volvo-Eicher, Bosch, IBM, Siemens, Nokia, Carl Zeiss, etc., so that our students would get exposure to the latest developments in the industry. We have on board 250 + recruiters, comprising leading IT and core engineering companies, who visit us for campus placement year-on-year," says Dr. Ranganath.

The campus life at NIE is complemented by quality housing for boys and girls. NIE is known for vibrant cultural experience and the annual signature event "TechNIEks", a three-days cultural extravaganza, is well known. Apart from excellent sports infrastructure, several student clubs provide opportunities for honing skills in computer coding, robotics, motor sports, aero-modelling, etc.

MULTIDISCIPLINARY EDUCATION

The curricula of all HEIs should be made multidisciplinary to integrate humanities and arts with science, technology, engineering and mathematics. The undergraduate degree will be made more flexible with multiple exit options with appropriate certification.

For example: students will receive a certificate after one year, diploma after two years, bachelor's degree after three years, and bachelor's with research degree after four years. Further, an academic bank of credit will be established to digitally store academic credits earned from various HEIs for awarding degrees based on credits. HEIs will have the flexibility to offer different designs of masters' programmes. The M.Phil. programme will be discontinued.

REGULATORY STRUCTURE

The regulatory structure of higher education in India will be overhauled to ensure that the distinct functions of regulation, accreditation, funding and setting academic standards are performed by separate, independent bodies. This will minimise conflict of interest and eliminate concentration of power. To ensure this, the Higher Education Commission of India (HECI) will be setup with four independent verticals:

- The National Higher Education Regulatory Council as a single regulator (including teacher education, excluding legal and medical education)
- The National Accreditation Council for accreditation of institutions
- The Higher Education Grants Council for financing of higher education institutions
- General Education Council for specifying the curriculum framework and learning levels for higher education.

MIT MYSORE

Engineering College Built by Engineering Teachers

Maharaja Education Trust (MET), Mysuru, a trust comprising of eminent teachers has founded the Maharaja Institute of Technology Mysore (MITM) situated in Belawadi. Right from its inception, the institution has consistently marched towards excellence and has established itself as a pioneer in the field of technical education, spreading knowledge in Mysore – Mandya region.

MIT Mysore, established in the year 2007, made its beginning with an intake of 240 seats encompassing four engineering disciplines. To the date, the institute is nurturing an intake of 900+ and overall student strength of around 3000, offering various programs at undergraduate, postgraduate and research level.

MIT Mysore, renowned as 'Teaching Centric', is resourced with knowledgeable and committed faculties showing acute keenness for teaching. MITM evaluates the success of its programs using the highest standards of quality, innovation and transparency. The institute is equipped with all modern learning aids to make teaching-learning process a pleasure for all its stakeholders. The college now has the accreditation from National Board of Accreditation (NBA) for all its 5 UG programs. The institute's NSS cell, headed by the Principal, is awarded by VTU as the best NSS cell in the state.

A still from the series

SANATH PRASAD

A MURDERED Mother, Body In a Bag, Dying For Protection, The Stolen Baby... These may sound like filmy titles, but in reality, all of these are true-life incidents, which have been captured in Crime Stories: India Detectives. The brand new OTT series which released on Wednesday, follows the investigations of four gripping cases involving murder, extortion and kidnapping.

Directed by N Amit and Jack Rampling, the camera follows the Bengaluru city cops on a spine-chilling chase as they work on cracking the investigations. From a police official loading a gun to nab the accused, to an officer's emotional side during an investigation, the series also delves into the complexities of cracking cases.

We were camera-conscious in the beginning and a little hesitant to give out our modus operandi. But then, we got used to it after a few weeks

- MN Anucheth, DCP Bengaluru Central Division

So far, western crime-thrillers have dominated OTT platforms, so this series stands out for its focus on India. Interestingly, the show only revolves around cases handled by the Bengaluru City Police. It was during the tenure of then police commissioner of Bengaluru Bhaskar Rao that the show was shot in January 2020. "This series is significant because people need to know how the police managed to crack investigations with such limited resources. Most often, crime thrillers show the razzmatazz of the police with hardly anyone portraying their emotional side. From tracking bus tickets to the e-commerce purchases of the accused, the series will be an eye-opener on how the police has harnessed the power of technology to crack cases."

IPS officer MN Anucheth, DCP, Bengaluru Central division, who is featured in the series involving the murder of a mother by her daughter, believes that the series is one of its kind. "A daughter killing her mother is just unimaginable. The filmmakers tagged along with us from the crime scene till the filing of a chargesheet. We were camera-conscious in the beginning and a little hesitant to give out our modus operandi. But then, we got used to it after a few weeks," says Anucheth, who was the deputy commissioner of police (Mahadevapura zone) in February 2020 when the series was filmed.

Shashi Kumar IPS, who was a supervisory officer for three of the four cases featured in the series, says, "All three were critical cases in my jurisdiction. We managed to solve two out of the three cases. The series is a realistic approach on how a crime is solved without any filters added to it. In the kidnapping case, one of the lady sub-inspectors, Roopa, was more worried about the child than the parents. This reflects the actual moments that we go through as police officers."

This new rap song captures the emotions of students towards virtual lessons

A still from the song Online Class

Tunes OF THE times

EXPRESS FEATURES

HOW has the pandemic changed the course for students? Is online education distancing students from their peers? All of these questions which are often raised by educators, parents and others, have been put together in the form of a song by a city-based rapper. Gajendra Guru recently released a song titled Online Class, featuring Bengaluru-based fashion designer Laxmi Krishna, her son Viaan Krishna and other young school students who have been attending online school since the last one-and-a-half years.

Conceptualised by Guru, the song captures the various emotions students feel about studying from home. Interestingly, the rapper had written only four lines while he was on his way to Mysuru to record the song. By the time he reached the destination, he managed to mind-map the entire song. "It would be apt to say that the song was born during my bus journey towards Mysuru. I boarded the bus with just the first four lines of the song. However, I managed to pen the entire song by the time I reached Mysuru. The song is a mere reflection on the reality of online class that is spoiling the joy of childhood days of students who are confined to homes due to the pandemic," says Guru.

The rap song also depicts how school bags and uniforms are fading and how excess time is being spent on digital devices. Krishna says, "They are cut-off from reality. The song is a reflection of the new normal. I believe students are humans and cannot work like machines. Online classes stress them out. However, the song is not a complaint against online education, but highlights the lifestyle of children due to online classes. The concept has clicked with youngsters because many of them are making reels around this issue."

FIT BIT

GAJA VADIVU

(ELEPHANT POSE)

Gaja Vadivu is one of the poses in Kalaripayattu or Kalari. It deals with hip-opening and hip-abduction (thighs moving away from medial). The spine is lengthened and emphasis is given on pelvis tuck to activate the core, glutes and inner thigh muscles. The arms and shoulders also get a thorough lengthening and helps in keeping the spine aligned. It helps to prepare the lower body for deep squat poses such as Garland Pose (Malasana Pose) or Firefly Pose (Tittibhasana). This also help runners to strengthen their legs, especially sprinters who run short distances.

STEPS

- Stand straight with your feet shoulder width apart.
- Exhale and squat keeping your feet flat on the floor.
- You may use a wall to support your body's weight and push your hips slowly towards the floor.
- You can also place your hands on a 2-feet tall chair/table and slowly bend your knees.
- Inhale and lift your arms up. Join your palms in Pranam Mudra and gaze softly between your hands.
- Exhale and slowly bring your palms towards the floor, while holding the Pranam Mudra.
- Keep your torso is parallel to the floor. Point your fingers towards the ceiling.
- Inhale and bring your palms together at the center of your forehead.
- Touch your elbows together and curl your fingers with knuckles pointing upwards. Touch the tip of your thumbs to your forehead.
- Focus in between your eyebrows and stay here for 3 to 6 long breaths.
- To come out of this pose, place your palms on the floor and straighten your legs. Finally, inhale and come into Tadasana (Mountain Pose).

BENEFITS

- Regular practice of this pose improves focus and concentration.
- Regulates hormonal balance.
- Recommended during pregnancy.
- It helps improve metabolism.
- It helps combat stomach problems like constipation and gas.
- It stretches and strengthens the feet, ankles, calves, hips, and spine.
- Helps tone the abdomen.
- Inner thigh muscles and hamstrings are strengthened.

LIMITATIONS

- Thosee who are suffering from severe knee, back, hip or stomach injuries should not practise this asana.

Here's why the rising burden of chronic pain is a growing concern

Persistent pain

DR (MAJ) PANKAJ N SURANGE

EVERYONE experiences aches and pains at one time or the other. However, some pain can continue for weeks and months due to underlying health condition. Any pain that lasts more than three months is considered chronic pain. Long-lasting pain can affect any part of the body. It can be of many types, including joint pain (impacting knee, shoulder, neck, etc), lower back pain, slipped disc, spondylitis or sciatica, neurology pain, migraine, facial pain, rheumatic pain, and cancer pain. It may range from a mild ache or burning sensation to a shooting pain, a feeling of stiffness or squeezing, or a stinging or throbbing sensation.

Chronic pain is much more common than one would think, and its incidence is increasing worldwide. A survey by the Indian Society for Study of Pain found that 23 per cent of the Indian population suffers from it. There has been a gradual rise in the number of older people in society due to rising life expectancy. The younger population too is getting affected, mainly due to leading a sedentary lifestyle. There is a higher prevalence of chronic pain in females. Pain prevalence increases steeply beyond the age of 65 years. The commonest cause of chronic pain is spinal pain and joint pain. Arthritis, degenerative conditions of the spine, and cancer pain are the most common contributors.

Chronic pain is clearly emerging as a significant public health problem. It will exert an increasing social and economic toll in the next two decades with significant spending on surgical treatment and hospitalisation. Chronic pain can interfere with one's social life, daily activities like working or exercising, taking care of oneself and the family, or leading an independent lifestyle. It can also give rise to depression or anxiety and sleeping problems.

For most cases of chronic pain, less invasive interventions (called interventional pain management) are better alternatives to open surgical methods as they involve much less risk and trauma to patient. They are also much safer and don't require hospital admission. Since most of the procedures can be done in a day care setting, the cost can be reduced to almost half compared to conventional surgeries. Patients can go back home the same day. Early interventions not only relieve pain, but also reduce morbidity and improve quality of life.

Patients suffering from back pain, slipped disc, disc bulge, sciatica etc are treated with less invasive techniques like ozone discectomy, percutaneous disc decompression and endoscopic discectomy where a small scope is inserted to remove the herniated portion of the disc. Patients suffering from arthritis of the joints are managed with regenerative interventions in their early stages to prevent progression. Pain in advanced arthritis of knee, shoulder, hip and spinal joints is managed with radiofrequency procedures. Nerve pain, including neuralgia and neuropathic pain, is managed with medication and neurolytic procedures. All these procedures are done under local anaesthesia and patients are discharged the same day.

With better understanding of chronic pain and technological advancement, pain physicians can now control chronic pain adequately. In most cases, it can even be cured. However, prevention is the best medicine.

GROWLING GUT

Are you facing frequent digestive problems? If so, it could be gastric dysmotility

DR NARESH BHAT

DO you often feel hungry, take a bite and then suddenly feeling full? Do you experience regular abdominal pain, bloating, nausea or vomiting? This is quite common for those with disorders in the digestive tract. It could also be gastric dysmotility, a gastrointestinal (GI) condition which most people are not aware of and often refer to as gastritis or reflux disease (GERD). These conditions can be alleviated with appropriate medication and diet.

Gastric motility is regulated by an electric rhythm of the stomach which stimulates the muscle, resulting in contractions much like the heart. Disorders in the nerves of the stomach cause delay in the movement of food from the stomach to the small intestine. Though there is no blockage in the stomach or intestines, people with gastric dysmotility experience early satiety (feeling full quickly when eating), heartburn, nausea, bloating, vomiting, abdominal pain which could result in poor appetite, weight loss, thereby, affecting the quality of life. They often complain of inability to eat much or complete their meal or vomiting and fullness.

Causes of gastric dysmotility

Gastric dysmotility can be caused by uncontrolled blood sugar levels, low thyroid functioning, stress, viral infections, drugs and scleroderma (a connective tissue disease). It is common after an abdominal surgery. Some medications for pain relief and anti-depressants can also result in slow gastric motility. However, there is a large number of patients who have a disorder called Gut Brain Axis, resulting in functional dyspepsia with poor quality of life.

Diagnosis and treatment

Gastric dysmotility can cause significant disturbance in the quality of life; complications include dehydration and malnutrition. Blood sugars can fluctuate, resulting in very low or high values which can be life threatening in diabetic patients. Rarely, the undigested food hardens and remains stuck in the stomach for a long time. It is important to recognise the symptoms and seek medical help without delay. One needs to undergo physical examination, certain blood tests to check the blood sugar levels, endoscopy to diagnose the condition. Gastric scintigraphy as well as electrogastrography may be used to confirm the diagnosis. The treatments are given based on the cause and the severity of the condition, and how well one responds to different treatments. They include drugs that increase the gastric muscle contraction (prokinetics) and good sugar control. In severe cases, an endoscopic surgery called pyloromyotomy is done or gastric pacemakers are implanted.

Importance of diet

One should keep in mind that what you eat has a huge impact on your stomach health. Small quantity of meals taken at shorter intervals are useful. Fatty and greasy foods further slowdown gastric motility and are best avoided. Vitamin and energy supplements may be needed in those with malnutrition.

TO GET A PAP SMEAR DONE

Screening should not to be scheduled during periods

IF A PAP TEST IS SCHEDULED WITHIN TWO DAYS, THEN

Do not douche

Do not use a tampon

Do not use birth control foam/medicines/cream/jelly/lubricants

Avoid during vaginal infections

Postpartum smear should be taken only after 6-8 weeks of delivery

Every seven minutes, one Indian woman dies of cervical cancer, with India having the highest estimated number of cervical cancer deaths. It is no less than an epidemic.

Pap (smear) talk

A simple test can not only detect pre-cancer or cancerous cells, it can also spot any inflammation and other changes happening on the cell lining of the cervix

DR NITI RAIZADA

A simple test called the pap smear has become the gold standard for early detection of cervical cancer in women. The test by itself takes just a few minutes in an out-patient set-up where the specialist collects a few cells for testing from the cervix (lower part of uterus). Pap smear sampling of cervix involves scraping of cervical surface and a portion of non-visualised cervical canal using various sampling devices. In the classic pap smear, five different stains in three different solutions are used. The different stains bring out the different types of squamous cells which line the cervix, right from the superficial, intermediate and deep layers. Pap smears detect not just pre-cancer or cancerous cells, but even inflammation and other changes happening on the cell lining the cervix.

How frequently is a pap smear advised?

We start testing from the age of 21, once in three years. After the age of 30, if combined with an HPV DNA test (Pap-HPV contesting), the frequency can be reduced to once in five years. Advantages of reduced testing includes reduced incidence of Stenosis, Cervical Incompetence, etc. Generally, testing is stopped at the age of 65. However, in certain conditions like immunodeficiency syndromes, HIV, and other high-risk groups, the doctor may choose to test more frequently. HPV is Human Papilloma Virus which infects the cell lining of the reproductive organs and can cause cancer in organs like vagina, cervix, vulva and even penile and anus.

An abnormal pap smear may be followed up by a colposcopy which is a magnifying instrument to better examine the details of the cervix, vagina and the vulva. During the same procedure, tissue biopsy may be taken from areas looking abnormal. The lab analysis aids in definitive diagnosis.

Study shows severe Covid infection can lead to delirium

Patients hospitalised with severe Covid-19 infection are high at risk of developing cognitive impairment — including depression and delirium — both during the treatment and after it, finds a study. Delirium is a serious disturbance in mental state wherein a patient is confused, agitated and unable to think clearly. The study, published in BMJ Open, looked at nearly 150 patients hospitalised for Covid at the beginning of the pandemic. Of these, 73 per cent had delirium. Such patients tended to be sicker, with more comorbidities like hypertension and diabetes, and appeared to have more severe Covid-related illness as well, said study author Phillip Vlisides, from the Department of Anesthesiology at Michigan Medicine, University of Michigan. Confusion and agitation could be a result of inflammation of the brain.

SOULFUL

Meditation & mindfulness

IT was one of those lovely mornings. The sun was just coming up and you could see it between the eucalyptus and the pine. It was over the waters, golden, burnished such light that exists only between the mountains and the sea. It was such a clear morning, breathless, full of that strange light that one sees not only with one's eyes but with one's heart. And when you see it, the heavens are very close to earth, and you are lost in the beauty.

You know, you should never meditate in public, or with another, or in a group — you should meditate only in solitude, in the quiet of the night or in the still, early morning. When you meditate in solitude, it must be solitude. You must be completely alone, not following a system, a method, repeating words, pursuing a thought, or shaping a thought according to your desire. This solitude comes when the mind is free from thought. When there are influences of desire or of the things that the mind is pursuing, either in the future or in the past, there is no solitude. The aloneless comes only in the immensity of the present. And then, in quiet secrecy in which all communication has come to an end, in which there is no observer with his anxieties, with his stupid appetites and problems, only then, in that quiet aloneness, meditation becomes something that cannot be put into words.

I don't know if you have ever meditated, if you have ever been alone, by yourself, far away from everything, from every person, from every thought and pursuit, if you have ever been completely alone — not isolated, not withdrawn into some fanciful dream or vision — but far away, so that in yourself there is nothing recognisable, nothing that you touch by thought or feeling, so far away that in this full solitude, the very silence becomes the only flower, the only light, and the timeless quality that is not measurable by thought. Only in such meditation does love has its being. Don't bother to express it, it will express itself. Don't use it. Don't try to put it into action, it will act, and when it acts, in that action ,there is no regret, no contradiction, none of the misery and travail of man.

So meditate alone. And don't try to remember where you have been. If you try to remember it, then it will be something that is dead. And if you hold onto the memory of it then you will never be alone again. So meditate in that endless solitude, in the beauty of that love, in that innocency, in the new then there is the bliss that is imperishable.

The sky is very blue, the blue that comes after the rain, and these rains have come after many months of drought. After the rain the skies are washed clean and the hills are rejoicing, and the earth is still. And every leaf has the light of the sun on it, and the feeling of the earth is very close to you. So meditate in the very secret recesses of your heart and mind, where you have never been before.

PREM TO PLAY THE ROLE OF FIELD MARSHAL CARIAPPA IN HIS NEXT

THE ACTOR WILL BE TEAMING UP WITH THE PRODUCERS AND DIRECTOR OF PREMAM POOJAYAM; MAKERS ARE PLANNING TO PRESENT THE FILM TO THE GLOBAL AUDIENCE

A SHARADHAA

ACTOR Prem, who is touching the milestone of the 25th film with the upcoming film Premam Poojyam, will be taking another leap with his next venture, which will be a Hollywood film. Fondly known as Lovely Prem of Sandalwood, the actor is playing the role of Field Marshal Cariappa in the film.

Prem is teaming up with Premam Poojyam director, Dr Raghavendra BS for the film, which will have a whole lot of Hollywood technicians as part of its crew. The film will be bankrolled by Kedambadi Creations on a budget of ₹400 crores. "This is going to be a period film that will explore a few true and unknown incidents from Cariappa's journey. Field Marshal Kodandera Madappa Cariappa was the first Commander-in-Chief of the Indian Army and led Indian forces on the Western Front during the Indo-Pakistani War of 1947. A native of Coorg, he served the military for three decades. He is one of two Indian Army officers to hold the five-star rank of Field Marshal; the other being Field Marshal Sam Manekshaw," Prem says.

Field Marshal K. M. Cariappa

He adds, "The plan to make this project as a Hollywood film is because Cariappa was a world hero. As a Kannadiga, he made a mark on a global stage. So, we want this film to be a tribute from Kannadigas to the General," explains Prem, who adds, "The film will neither be a biopic of General Cariappa nor a documentary on his life. It will be inspired by a few incidents from his life. Our team is currently doing extensive research on him. The Army Chief has travelled to different places across the world, and we wish to capture those moments."

"We are involving many Hollywood technicians and are in talks with various teams. Most portions of the film will be shot abroad. The project discussion is right now at the initial stages, and more details can be given, as and when we lock the script," he signs off.

'RAGHAVENDRA STORES WILL ENTERTAIN AUDIENCES OF ALL AGES'

says Navarasa Nayaka Jaggesh, who is associating with director Santhosh Ananddram for a family drama bankrolled by Hombale Films

CE FEATURES

HOMBALE Films' 12th project is set to bring together the actor-director duo of Navarasa Nayaka Jaggesh and Santhosh Ananddram for family drama titled, Raghavendra Stores–Since 1972.

"We present our next, Raghavendra Stores," tweeted the production house along with a poster of Jaggesh in various avatars. The makers are set to begin shooting for the film from November 22.

Jaggesh reveals that he knew Santhosh Ananddram's capabilities right from his assistant director days. "I want to recall the day when I invited Santhosh on the stage at the press event of my film, Agraja, and predicted that he will become one of the top directors in the Kannada industry. In a year's span, he delivered a blockbuster hit, Mr and Mrs Ramachari, and followed it up with Raajakumara. He has a special place for me and treats me as a beloved guru. I equally treat him as my son," says Jaggesh, who says the project Raghavendra Stores is more like a miracle. "There is a Mantralaya connect to this film. Not long ago, I was suggesting people to visit Mantralaya and seek the blessings of Raghavendra Swamy, and apparently, the director too was inspired to write the script after a divine intervention that happened at Mantralaya," he says.

Santhosh Ananddram and Vijay Kiragandur

Jaggesh believes the audience will surely give him a bigger space in their hearts after seeing Raghavendra Stores. "The script of Raghavendra Stores mirrors the family issues in our society," says Jaggesh, who is also excited about the various shooting locations for the film. "I had wished to shoot at certain locations, and coincidentally Santhosh too has finalised those places. We will be shooting at 25 locations, and every place will have an important role to play in the film," says Jaggesh. The actor also mentions that the film will mostly star Kannada artistes and the director is in process of finalising the actors.

Jaggesh

"Raghavendra Stores will entertain audiences of all ages — from age 6 to 60 years," says Jaggesh.

Vijay Kirangandur, who is bankrolling the project, says that director Santhosh Ananddram will give a new taste to the audience. "Having a senior actor like Jaggesh makes it all the more special. Santhosh Ananddram is a creative director, and he has already delivered two successful films under our banner. We are confident that he will come with a wholesome entertainer."

"I am glad to have got an opportunity to direct under the banner, Hombale films. The audience can look forward to seeing Jaggesh in a very unique role, say director Santhosh Ananddram.

Yasha Shivakumar

Yasha Shivakumar and Praveen Tej team up for romantic track

The musical album is made by neurosurgeon Dr Shailesh Kumar and Dr Shashikala

CE FEATURES

Yasha Shivakumar, who is making her debut with Padavi Poorva, will be part of a new single, which will also feature Praveen Tej in a romantic video song.

Interestingly, the video album is a collaborative effort of two doctors— Neurosurgeon Dr. Shailesh Kumar BS and Shashikala Puttaswamy — who are passionate about films. Shailesh Kumar will be producing the video album under the banner Film O'Clock productions, a sister concern of Sri Nagabrahma Creations. On the other hand, Shashikalad will be wielding the megaphone for this romantic track. "This is a break-up song reminiscing their memories," says producer Shailesh Kumar, who plans to shoot the song in a resort. "The song is written by Shashikala and will have Sai Kiran scoring the music. Well-known singer Vijay Prakash has crooned the number. The song will be picturised by cinematographer Chandrashekar. Dhananjay will choreograph the song along with Hariprasad Jayanna, Santhosh Rai Pataje, and Gangadhar Basavalingappa part of the team."

Meanwhile, Shailesh Kumar has the film Talvarpete in the pipeline. He will also bankroll Ganesh's next film, which will have the actor in a role of a neurosurgeon.

ALL ABOARD THE JUNGLE CRUISE

CE FEATURES

Jungle Cruise promises everything we associate with Disney titles: adventure, eye-popping visuals, and loads of action. For filmmaker Jaume Collet-Serra, who adapted this Disney ride into a live-action spectacle, it was essential to keep the essence and tone of the ride intact. "The Jungle Cruise ride is loved by many, not only because it's been there for a long time but because it's one of the only rides that the whole family can enjoy together," says Collet-Serra. "You can bring a baby and you can bring your grandma; so, in a way, we wanted to make a film that reflected that... A film that the whole family could enjoy together. That was the starting point for us."

Talking about the process of inheriting the ride's entertainment value into the screenplay, the filmmaker adds, "The comedy of the ride has evolved through the years. So, we took that as a tonal guideline, and from then on, we built the mythology and created characters and situations that would put the audience on the ride and expand on the experience of what they go through at Disneyland. This is a ride they can experience in theatres."

Filmmaker Jaume Collet-Serra speaks of the creative choices that went into bringing to life Disney's latest live-action feature, Jungle Cruise

Bringing the exotic world of Jungle Cruise into a film was no walk in the park. There needed to be synergy between every department—from production design to cinematography, costumes to visual effects. "This movie takes place in the early 1900s in the Amazon jungle, so we wanted to make a movie that was vibrant, full of colour, and rich. It's hard to make a movie in the actual Amazon, so we had to bring those colours and textures to our stage, and the only tools that we had were the production design and the costumes," Collet-Serra says, adding that the team was cautious about visually representing the Amazon accurately. "We had a cultural advisor that made sure that everything was properly represented. The Tupi language was spoken there many years ago, so we made our own version based on that old language to give our characters an added sense of reality."

On the visual choices executed by Flavio Labiano's cinematography, the director reveals that they built their "own lenses to achieve a certain warm quality." He adds, "Everything was designed to bring a hot and vibrant look from the Amazon. Flavio is a great collaborator; he shoots beautifully and makes the actors look amazing. He has shot many movies in Latin America, and he knows exactly how it's supposed to look."

The filmmaker adds that creating 'the Jungle village' set was both an exciting and difficult task to accomplish. Collet-Serra intended the set to look awe-inspiring while also invoking an eerie feeling at first sight. "We wanted to build a set that showed a lot of scope and that had a 'wow' factor during the reveal. It needed to strike fear at first glance but then, feel warm once you are inside it. We felt that the best way to achieve that was to put the village up in the trees, very high up, and then build all these platforms that interconnected all of the little huts where the locals live." Despite the technical difficulties, the director believes "it was worth it."

A still from Jungle Cruise

The director shares that Industrial Light & Magic, the VFX studio behind Pirates of the Caribbean and Star Wars, came up with a novel technique to ease the creation of computer-generated imagery. "Two tiny infrared cameras were attached to the camera to capture the actors and their performance in real-time. The actors didn't have to wear the usual helmet cameras to capture their performances. They could act normally within the scene, and then the CG skin would be put over them. That was really groundbreaking, and it really freed us to shoot their performances."

Building the eponymous Jungle Cruise, the steamboat named La Quila, was of paramount importance to the filmmaker—after all, it's the film's titular character. "La Quila is certainly a character in the film. For me, it was very important to preserve a little bit of what the boats in the ride are like," Collet-Serra says. "Jean-Vincent Puzos (production designer) did a phenomenal job of designing La Quila. He brought all the little details, textures, and colours that made the boat the way I had envisioned it. It was put together in a way that, once you step away from it, it's both beautiful and practical to behold."
